WILSON TO ACT ON GERMANY IN 48 HOURS

FIRE AND DYNAMITE USED BY GERMANS TO WASTE FRANCE AS THEY RETREAT

Villages Are Being Put to Torch, Orchards Are Being Destroyed, and Even Farm Lands Are Being Devastated by Use of Explosives.

ANGLO-FRENCH FORCES KEEP RIGHT ON HEELS OF RETIRING GERMANS

Scores or More Villages Have Been Occupied--Only at Certain Points Are the Germans Offering Resistance — The French Have Advanced Within 12 Miles of St. Quentin and Are Menacing the St. Quentin-Laon Line.

New York, March 19.—(By Associated Press. From European Cables of the Day.)—The British and French forces in France are still pressing rapidly behind the retreating Germans all along the front from the region of Arras to the northeast of Soissons.

Forty more villages have been taken by the British, who during Monday's operations gained ground at various points, extending from two to eight miles, while twenty additional villages and small towns in addition to 100 occupied during the last three days, have been recaptured by the French. So rapid has been the advance of the French that they have penetratd beyond the village of Ham, 12 miles southwest of St. Quentin, and beyond Chaulnes, which lies some 15 miles north of the line from which the offensive was started. These operations from the south and southwest are menacing the St. Quentin-Laon line and if the rapidity of the movement is kept up for any length of time will menace the town of St. Quentin itself.

The Germans in their retreat are devastating the country, burning villages and destroying orchards and even blowing up farm lands, in which great craters have been left by explosions. In addition, bridges have been destroyed and roads of communication cut. The inhabitants of the places evacuated are said to have been left destitute.

PUSHING TURKS IN ASIA MINOR.

Meanwhile the Russians and British are keeping up their strong offensive against the Turks in Asia Minor, Persia and Mesopotamia. Along the Diala river the British have occupied the village of Bahriz and a portion of the town of Bakubah, about 25 miles northeast of Bagdad, and the Turks are reported to be in hasty retreat toward Khanikan, on the Turco-Persian frontier a little to the northwest of Kermanshah. In this region the Ottoman forces are likely soon to meet the on-coming Russians, who are reported by Petrograd to have dislodged the Turks from the town of Sarunabad, 20 miles southwest of Kermanshah.

The situation on the eastern front in Russia, in Galicia and Rumania is unchanged. Artillery duels and small infantry engagements continue on the Austro-Italian front.

In Macedonia, reports from Saloniki say that the Germans have shelled Monastir, causing heavy loss of life among the civilians. Fighting continues in the Lake Presba and Lake Ochrida sector, where French attacks have again been repulsed, according to Berlin. To the east of Lake Doiran region, according to Berlin, the British have been driven back from one position.

BRITISH AND FRENCH CONTINUE TO DRIVE GERMAN INVADERS

London, March 19.—The British advance is still being pushed rapidly, further large gains being recorded in the official report from British headquarters in France tonight.

"The pursuit of the enemy," says the report, "continued today, our cavalry and advanced guards driving back the enemy's rear guards.

"The ground gained extends for a depth of from two to eight miles, and forty more villages have fallen into our hands."

"The enemy raided our ternches early this morning in the neighborhood of Loos and northwest of Ypres; a few of our men are missing.

"Our airplanes did much valuable work yesterday in co-operation with our infantry. Enemy troops were engaged successfully with machine guns and bombs were dropped on a number of places behind the enemy lines. In the air fights one German machine was

SHOUTS OF JOY GREET THE ALLIES

As They Enter the Villages From Which the Germans Have Fled — Inhabitants Grateful to Americans.

At the French Front in France, Sunday, March 18.—(Via Paris, March 19.) The French troops made one of the most significant advances since the beginning of the war yesterday and today. Along a 60-kilometer front some hundreds of square kilometers refell into the hands of the French, while the Germans' retreating movement gave no evidence of coming to a halt.

This immense tract of reconquered territory was traversed today by a correspondent of the Associated Press, who found the inhabitants in many places, where they were allowed to remain by the Germans, tearfully joyous at the reappearance of their fellow-countrymen coming in as victors.

Among the first words from the women and children, who had been for thirty-two months in the hands of the Germans, were expressions of gratitude to America.

"Americans have kept us alive; otherwise we would have died of hunger."

This was absolutely spontaneous, the stricken people not being aware that an American correspondent was present.

These people are the first in northeastern France to have an opportunity to give free expression of their feelings and their appreciation of the American effort in their behalf is an example of the general sentiment in the stricken districts.

Germans Blow Up Houses.

Signs of a hasty German departure are visible everywhere, and especially in the villages and towns, in the shape of houses blown to fragments by the explosion of incendiary bombs. In the distance burning villages showed that the retreat was still progressing. Here and there were a few corpses of German soldiers, who evidently had been killed while acting as rear guards. Former German positions are just heaps of scattered wire entanglements and the trenches are half filled with water.

Supply columns are proceeding in every direction following the French pursuing troops, who keep close on the heels of the retreating Germans, not allowing them a moment's respite.

The Associated Press correspondent entered the area reconquered at Lassigny, which suffered badly, not a house escaping damage. The joy of the inhabitants at the almost incredible sight of French soldiers entering a town within an hour after the Germans departed on Saturday afternoon was extraordinary, every passing Frenchman or ally being embraced. The correspondent spoke with many women who declared that they owed their own lives, as well as those of their children, to American relief in the occupied territory.

At Malmaison farm the Germans evidently opposed with some considerable resistance the French advance, the ground being pierced with shell holes like a sieve. Further along in the villages of Candor and Lagny many women and children still remained, the rapid retirement not permitting the Germans to carry them off with the mayor, the assistant mayor and other officials. They asserted that everything they grew in their gardens was requisitioned by the Germans and the sole means of sustaining life was the food distributed by the Americans. Every month the mayors or other village functionaries were called together where the American representative gave out supplies, and life was sustained simply by this means.

Girls Carried to Germany.

At Candor nearly two hundred women and children were left in German hands at the beginning of the war. The young men and girls were all carried off to Germany, their parents even now being ignorant of their whereabouts. Those remaining were compelled to do all kinds of work without payment, and when for religious reasons they refused to work on Sunday they were fined. Even boys over thirteen years of age assert that they were driven often under fire to dig ditches or small trenches for military telephone wires. All schools had been closed since the German occupation.

The inhabitants assert that the German soldiers told them weeks ago that they were about to retreat, as they were not able to withstand the constant attacks from the entente allies on all parts of the line, and further, that they were suffering from a shortage of food supplies. These statements confirm information that new military works have been under construction for some time past far in the rear of the German front line.

There appears to be no doubt in military circles that the pressure brought to bear during the Somme battles hastened the Germans' decision to retreat. The French now are everywhere close upon their heels. Today the advance guard and French aviators watched and reported the progress of the retreat, while German airmen were invisible. Indications on all sides show that the retirement of the Germans is becoming even more extensive.

DIVORCE IS GRANTED TO MRS. W. F. M'COMBS

Her Husband Was Former Chairman of Democratic National Committee.

New York, March 19.—It became known today that a divorce had been granted Mrs. William F. McCombs from her husband, former chairman of the democratic national committee. Mrs. McCombs was Miss Dorothy Williams, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. John R. Williams, of Washington. They were married in London November 7, 1913.

Administration Bill Submitted to Conference of Assembly Members, Given Their Indorsement and Turned Over Then to Committee for Perfection in Detail.

DOCTORS TO BE BARRED FROM PRACTICE IN STATE FOR VIOLATION OF LAW

Amendment Provides That All Vehicles Hauling Prohibited Liquors Shall Be Subject to Confiscation. Test of Strength of Those Who Would Postpone Effectiveness of the Measure Comes Today.

The administration bone dry prohibition bill, which was submitted by Governor Nat E. Harris to a conference of 90 or 100 members of both branches of the general assembly at the Kimball house Monday afternoon, will be introduced in both the house and the senate of the legislature when it meets in extra session Tuesday morning.

The bill, after brief discussion, which indicated very general approval, was referred Monday afternoon to a committee of five from the house and three from the senate, with instructions that the committee perfect the bill in any details in which they saw fit and introduce it in the legislature.

This committee made two amendments which made the bill even more drastic than the original draft, if possible.

This bill seems to have been the result of a contest between all the antagonists of the festive cup to see who could suggest the utmost in "dryness."

It is conceded by everybody who has seen the bill to be the last hoarse syllable in absolute, bone dry, throat-parching prohibition, and students of the bill declare that not only is it hole-proof, but it is even seep-proof.

If the plans of the prohibition wing of the house do not go awry, this period of sobreity is due to arrive in Georgia about the first of next week, or possibly next Saturday.

ADMINISTRATION MEASURE.

Briefly summarized the provisions of the administration "bone dry" prohibition bill, which was indorsed at the conference at the Kimball house Monday afternoon and which is to be introduced in both branches of the general assembly Tuesday, are as follows:

To prohibit the shipment or bringing into the state by any person or any means any liquor whatsoever, or any alcoholic compound, whether for beverages or not, which can produce intoxication.

To prohibit any concern or individual having in its or his possession, at home or elsewhere, any liquor or anything intoxicating whatsoever.

To the foregoing provisions are exceptions enumerated below.

A druggist, pharmacist or manufacturer may import pure alcohol in any quantity upon obtaining a permit from the county ordinary, the application for which must set forth upon oath the purpose for which the alcohol is to be used and must bear the indorsement of two reputable citizens. Another shipment may be secured only upon exhaustion of the former supply and the presentation to the ordinary of evidence that the former supply has been used for the purpose for which it was ordered.

Wine for Sacrament.

Upon permit from the ordinary, a church, through a minister, priest or board, may obtain sufficient wine for the holy sacrament, but may receive only one such supply per month. In case of violation of the law, first offense is a misdemeanor and second offense is a felony.

The bill provides that the commissioner of commerce and labor of the state shall serve as prohibition commissioner, for a salary of $1,200, and that this salary shall be provided for by adding ten per cent to costs in all convictions under this act. If this additional ten per cent does not provide sufficient money, the commissioner of prohibition is the loser; if it provides more than $1,200 per year, the balance goes into the state treasury.

The former shipping law is repealed.

The completed bill will be found on the editorial page of this issue of The Constitution.

The committee met immediately after the adjournment of the conference and made two amendments to the bill.

CONFISCATE VEHICLES.

One of these amendments provides for the confiscation of any property or vehicle used for the hauling of prohibited liquors, upon which confiscation the said property or vehicle shall be sold and the proceeds go to the common

DRASTIC LAW URGED AT GREAT JUBILEE OF PROHIBITIONISTS

Work for "Dry" Law by the Governor, Senators and Congressmen, and T. B. Felder Indorsed at Meeting.

NATIONAL PROHIBITION OPPOSED BY HARDWICK

But Senator Says He Wishes Georgia Made as "Dry" as People Want It—Governor Reviews Movement in State.

After listening to enthusiastic speeches from leading prohibitionists of the state, including a United States senator, the governor and mayors of the two leading cities of the state, old veterans of the "dry cause" and new converts to the creed; after hearing from labor and capital, the three thousand men and women who attended the jubilee of the "bone drys" at the Auditorium last night adopted by acclamation a series of resolutions calling on the legislature in session today to make the state absolutely liquor proof, so far as leakage from outside the state is concerned; to do it effectively and at once.

United States Senator Thomas W. Hardwick, who for the first time publicly declared his views on the prohibition issue in Georgia, stated that he was unalterably opposed to national prohibition in any shape, whether as an act of congress or as an amendment to the federal constitution, but he wished to see the state made just as dry as the people wanted it and would do all in his power to compass that result.

Believes in State Rights.

He was opposed to national prohibition, he said, because he was a believer in state rights, and he regarded a national law governing the subject as an unjustifiable and unwarranted infringement upon the police powers of the states, which should have free and unhampered control of the question. He wanted to have done with hypocrisy on the subject and to give the people real and effective prohibition if they desired it.

After listening to music from band and organ, the meeting was duly opened with the singing of "America" by the audience standing and with prayer by the Rev. O. P. Bentley, assistant superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Georgia. Mrs. A. B. Cunyus, of Cartersville, musical director of the state W. C. T. U., then sang a song composed specially for the occasion, entitled, "Victory."

Governor Harris, the first speaker, was then presented by Dr. Charles O. Jones, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, and one of the leading organizers of the jubilee. Governor Harris said, in part:

Governor's Address.

"We are here to rejoice over what has been done and over what will be done in the course of the next few days. There has been the greatest change in public sentiment on this issue than there ever was before on any great moral issue in the history of the country. I tell my liquor friends to get on the band wagon, because there is no other wagon for them to get on.

The governor then gave a resume of the history of the prohibition movement in Georgia, particularly of the part played in the beginning of the movement by his former law partner, the late Walter B. Hill, who, at his death, was chancellor of the University of Georgia.

"Back in those days," he added, "I myself was in the liquor camp, and it is not a very nice admission for me to be making now."

The governor then told how he was led to see a new light on the issue from hearing speeches of Mr. Hill and the late Henry Grady.

The governor in a really pathetic conclusion, in the course of which he told his hearers that it was in all probability the last time on earth that he would ever address them, declared that he would consider it a higher honor than any crown which could be placed on his life work, if his administration as governor were remembered as the period when liquor was finally and forever banished from the state.

Presents Chairman Harris.

The governor presented Chairman W. J. Harris, of the federal trade commission, who acted as chairman of the meeting after his introductory speech, in which he declared that he had been a prohibitionist from early boyhood.

Mr. Harris then read telegrams from former Congressman Charles G. Edwards, of the First Georgia district, Senater Hoke Smith, Senator James Watson, of Indiana; Senator W. G. Harding, of Ohio, and former Senator Luke Lea, of Tennessee, expressing their hearty sympathy with the objects of the meeting and their regrets at their inability to accept the invitation to be present and participate in it.

Mayor Asa Candler was then presented to welcome the audience on behalf of the city of Atlanta. He declared that he had as good credentials as any to appear at a prohibition meeting for his earliest recollection was hearing an elder brother, a little lad, dressed in white, deliver a speech on temperance, prepared by his mother.

"I want to make it easier for our police to enforce the prohibition laws here," he declared. "I want it so 85 per cent of our police force will not have to devote most of their time to catching blind tigers and so that we can spend some of the money we now

STRIKES ARE BANNED ON INTERSTATE ROADS BY ADAMSON DECISION

In Upholding 8-Hour Law, Supreme Court Says Congress Has Power to Force Compulsory Arbitration of Disputes Involving Public Interest.

TRAINMEN ARE LIKENED TO TROOPS FACING FOE

They Cannot Quit in Time of National Emergency. Five Justices Concurred in Upholding the Law and Four Filed Dissenting Opinions.

Adamson Not Surprised At the Court's Decision

Washington, March 19.—(Special.) Representative W. C. Adamson, of Georgia, author of the 8-hour law which today was upheld as constitutional by the supreme court, expressed no surprise at the court's decision.

"It was no more than I expected," said Representative Adamson. "The supreme court has never overturned a bill reported from my committee during the twenty years I have been a member of it. I would not have reported the 8-hour law if I had not believed it was constitutional."

Washington, March 19.—In an epochal decision holding congress to be clothed with any and all power necessary to keep open the channels of interstate commerce, the supreme court dividing 5 to 4 sustained the Adamson law as constitutional and enforceable in every feature.

The immediate effect of the decision will be to fix a permanent 8-hour basic day in computing wage scales on interstate railroads, for which a nation-wide strike has been threatened, and to give, effective from January 1 this year, increases in wages to trainmen of about 25 per cent, at a cost to the railroads estimated at from $40,000,000 to $50,000,000 a year.

The court, through Chief Justice White, declared both carriers and their employees, engaged in a business charged with a public interest, subject to the right of congress to compulsorily arbitrate a dispute affecting the operating of that business.

"Whatever would be the right of an employee engaged in private business to demand such wages as he desires, to leave the employment if he does not get them, and by concert of action to agree with others to leave on the same conditions," said the opinion, "such rights are necessarily subject to limitation when employment is accepted in a business charged with a public interest, and as to which the power to regulate commerce by congress applied and the resulting right to fix in case of disagreement and dispute a standard of wages as we have seen necessarily obtained."

Trainmen Compared to Soldiers.

In delivering the opinion, the chief justice departed at this point from his written text to emphasize the position of men operating trains in a time of national emergency by comparing them to soldiers facing an enemy.

Coming on the heels of the concession of the 8-hour basic day by the railroads at New York to avert the threatened strike, today's decision is regarded as largely supplanting that agreement, and, also, removing for all time, through the broadest interpretation of congressional authority outlined by the court, the probability of future transportation paralysis.

Joining in with the chief justice in sustaining the law were Justices McKenna and Holmes—his immediate seniors in point of service—and Justice Brandeis and Justice Clarke, junior members. Dissenting for various reasons were Justices Day, Van Devanter, Pitney and McReynolds.

The majority upheld the public right to have interstate commerce uninterrupted as a basic principle paramount to interests of the railroads or their operatives—both declared to be in public service and subject to the supreme, unrestricted power of congress to take any action necessary to maintain freedom and uninterruption of interstate commerce. Either as a law fixing wages or hours of labor, the court decided congress had authority to enact the Adamson statute.

"The public interest begets a public right of regulaton to the full extent necessary to secure and protect it," said the opinion, adding that in the emergency of threatened destructive suspension of national transportation, congress acted within its powers in providing a wage standard and other means necessary to protect the public interests.

It also declared that the Adamson

AMERICANS LOST WITH VIGILANCIA

Fifteen of Crew Drowned, Several of Whom Were Americans--Nine Men Missing From the Memphis.

Plymouth, March 19.—(Via London.) Fifteen members of the crew of the American steamer Vigilancia lost their lives when the steamer was torpedoed by a German submarine. The survivors were in lifeboats from Friday morning until Sunday afternoon.

Among those drowned were several American citizens, including Third Officer Neils P. North and Third Engineer Carl Adeholde. This information was given out by Captain Frank A. Middleton, of New York, who, with the survivors of the Vigilancia, has reached the mainland and probably will make affidavits tomorrow before the American consul.

To the Associated Press Captain Middleton said today that his vessel was sunk without warning. It was 10 o'clock Friday morning, with the weather clear, when the ship was struck by a torpedo on the starboard side near the No. 3 hatch. Two torpedoes were fired at the steamer, but the first passed harmlessly astern. Between seven and ten minutes after the steamer was struck she foundered.

Two lifeboats were lowered from the Vigilancia and the crew of 43 men got into them. Owing to the swell of the ocean, however, 25 men were thrown into the water. The boats of the captain and the mates picked up ten of the men, but the other fifteen were drowned.

Captain Middleton says he saw no submarine during the attack, but that one of the engineers thinks he saw a periscope. The captain saw two oily streaks on the water about a thousand yards from the steamer, which he took to be the tracks of torpedoes. The Vigilancia was flying the American flag and her name and a flag were painted on either side. Speaking of his experience in the boat, Captain Middleton said:

"After rescuing as many of the crew as possible in the boats we had biscuits and water. At night I fired distress signals. Several times, by the glare of the lights, I saw a submarine following us fifty yards from the boats between 10 o'clock Friday night and 2:50 o'clock Saturday morning, but it made no attempt to help us.

"We suffered great hardships in the boat. One man of the engine room staff is paralyzed as a result of exposure."

NINE MEN MISSING FROM THE MEMPHIS.

London, March 19.—Captain Borum and the eight men who formed the complement of his boat are among those missing from the sunken American steamer City of Memphis. Four of the eight sailors are Americans. The boat was picked up at 10 o'clock Sunday mornig empty, and it is hoped that its occupants were rescued either by a patrol boat or by a vessel carrying no wireless, and landed at some out-of-the-way port.

The survivors say that the captain's boat became separated from the others about 1 o'clock on Sunday morning.

Portrait of Kaiser Torn From the Wall By School Children

Washington Pupils Acted in Defiance of Teacher of German—Children Objected to "A Murderer's Picture."

Washington, March 19.—Patriotic students in Central High school here today tore down from the wall of a class room a picture of Emperor Willfam of Germany, and hung in its place a photograph of President Wilson, decorated with two American flags. The emperor's likeness disappeared before officers of the school cadet corps had an opportunity to present to Miss Marie Siebert, teacher of German, a resolution protesting against the presence of "a murderer's picture" and demanding its removal.

Harry Roper, 15-year-old son of Danlely G. Roper, recently appointed to the tariff commission, led the agitation, begun several days ago, against the picture by turning its face to the wall several times.

Miss Siebert, who is an American citizen, insisted that it should remain, saying that she intended to use it to illustrate a lecture. Then the cadet officers interested themselves, and they were ready to act today when other students entered the room during a recess and made the substitution.

School authorities are investigating the incident.

SERVICE IS SUSPENDED BY MERCHANTS-MINERS

Baltimore, March 19.—The Merchants and Miners' Transportation company gave notice today of suspension of its boat service between Baltimore, Boston and Providence. The scarcity and high price of coal at this port are given as the reason. The company is one of the largest coastwise passenger and freight lines.

HE WILL DECLARE WAR STATE EXISTS BETWEEN GERMANY AND UNITED STATES

Whether the President Will Hasten Extra Session of Congress or Take Additional Steps to Protect U. S. Ships Without This Move Not Disclosed.

PREPARATIONS BY NAVY FOR AGGRESSIVE ACTION AGAINST SUBMARINES

$115,000,000 to Be Utilized at Once to Hurry Warship Construction--Hundreds of Submarine "Chasers" Will Be Afloat in a Few Weeks. Two Classes at Annapolis Ordered Graduated--Working Agreement Is Likely With British and French Patrol Squadrons.

Washington, March 19.—President Wilson is expected within the next 48 hours to indicate definitely that he believes a virtual state of war exists between the United States and Germany.

News received from Plymouth that fifteen men, some of them Americans, had been drowned when the American merchantman Vigilancia was sunk without warning by a German submarine, added, if possible, to the already grave view of the situation held here as a result of the destruction of the Vigilancia, the Illinois and the City of Memphis.

Whether the president will hasten the extra session of congress, called for April 16, or will take additional steps to protect American commerce without this move, was not disclosed tonight. No official pretended to know his plans, and the general view was that he was still considering the question in his usual deliberate way.

A cabinet meeting probably will be held tomorrow afternoon, and at that time the situation arising out of the new acts of aggression on the part of Germany is expected to be thoroughly canvassed.

Preparing for Aggressive Action.

Preparations for aggressive action to protect American rights began today when the president visited the navy department personally, and directed Secretary Daniels to utilize the $115,000,000 made available by congress to hasten naval building plans. The New York navy yard was directed to begin the construction of 60 submarine chasers, and announcement was made that bids for 200 more will be opened Wednesday. Through the early graduation of two classes at Annapolis, and the mobilization of reserves, it is proposed to make it possible to man quickly all ships of the navy.

The question was also taken up of getting into communication informally with Great Britain and France, to discuss co-operation in the protection of commerce lanes across the Atlantic.

C. F. von HERRMANN,
Meteorologist, Weather Bureau.

This step probably will not be taken until the course of the United States has been finally determined.

In addition to his conference with Secretary Daniels, the president saw Secretaries Lansing and McAdoo and William Denman, chairman of the federal shipping board, and there was every indication that he was mapping out comprehensive plans for the protection of American interests in any eventuality.

It is generally conceded that already a virtual state of war exists with Germany in spite of the technical armed neutrality status of the United States.

A suggestion advanced tonight was that the president might issue a call for congress to meet within ten days, and in his proclamation point out the new situation facing the nation since he asked for authority to establish a state of armed neutrality. No one professed, however, to be in the president's confidence.

CALOMEL SALIVATES AND MAKES YOU SICK

Acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver and you lose a day's work.

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when 50 cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and cannot salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tone, because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.—(adv.)

NAVY IS PREPARING FOR DRASTIC ACTION AGAINST THE U-BOATS

Washington, March 19.—Preparation for aggressive action by the navy against the German submarine menace began today at the direction of President Wilson.

The president authorized the expenditure of the $115,000,000 emergency fund, provided by congress to speed up naval construction and pay for special additional war craft, and the suspension of the eight-hour labor law in plants engaged on navy work.

Immediately afterward Secretary Daniels ordered the New York navy yard to begin building sixty submarine chasers of the 110-foot type, to be completed in from sixty to eighty days.

With the president's approval, the secretary also ordered the graduation of the first and second classes at the naval academy. The first-class will go out March 29, releasing 172 junior officers to fill existing vacancies, and the second in September, furnishing 202 more a full year before they otherwise would be available.

While the energies of the navy will be concentrated for the present on efforts to get into commission craft designed particularly to destroy submarines and guard the coast, warship building generally will be speeded up under the recent agreement with private builders and with the funds now made available.

The announcements from the department followed an hour's conference between Secretary Daniels and the president, who walked over from the white house to the state, war and navy building for the purpose.

Fleet of 2,000 "Chasers."

Engines for the "chasers" to be turned out by the New York plant will be bought from private manufacturers in time to have them installed promptly upon completion of the hulls. Bids for 200 or more additional craft of the same type "coast patrol boats" as they are to be designated, will be opened next Wednesday. Mr. Daniels has called upon the entire small boat industry to submit figures as to the number that could be turned out at high speed. He plans to monopolize the market with government orders.

A large number of privately owned motor craft available for navy use may be drawn upon at any time. Retired navy officers have been at work along the Atlantic coast surveying boats for a month. Contracts have been made for their purchase and a telegraphic order will make them government property over night.

Volunteer crews for the boats have been enrolled among yachtsmen and others along the coasts. Commanders of naval districts are ready to call them out and begin patrol work with virtually no delay.

Navy officials estimate that within four months a fleet of 2,000 patrols and chasers will be ready for action. It is planned to assemble the volunteers within a few days to begin actual operations as a matter of training, pending orders from the president for complete mobilization of the navy.

In this connection officials say it is planned to establish a submarine proof patrol off the American coast, insuring safe passage to and from American ports for all ships. Since the visit of the German submarine U-53 to Newport last summer made it clear that the underwater craft could operate across the Atlantic, it is believed necessary to provide for protection of American harbors in the event of war.

To Work With British Patrols.

Informal negotiations will be started for a working agreement with the British and French patrol squadrons now endeavoring to protect ships passing through the German submarine zone. It is planned to make American waters safe against submarines for all ships with the understanding that American ships will receive full protection in the war zones from patrols of the allies. The plan would necessitate the interchange of information as to the routing of merchant craft to and from across the Atlantic.

Secretary Daniels would not discuss the uses to be made of the new patrol boats. They will be of sufficient size, however, to permit their use far off shore if necessary.

Recent navy contracts were let with the understanding that the 8-hour law would be suspended because of the shortage of skilled labor.

The enlisted personnel of the navy is being recruited rapidly, a total of 60,600 men being reported in service today. Congress has authorized a total strength of 74,000 and given the president authority to increase that to 87,000 in emergency. That power will not be exercised, however, until a strength of 70,000 has been reached.

In the event of complete mobilization three steps would be taken: Retired officers would be summoned to duty at yards and other shore stations, relieving active officers for sea duty; the fleet reserve, now about 1,200 strong in highly trained men, would be called to the colors, and the navy militia, about 10,000 strong, would be called out.

With these men available, it is estimated that every ship of military value, including all reserve battle craft, cruisers and destroyers, could be made ready at once for action. Each reserve ship now has a skeleton crew abord including the skilled men of the engine room and gunnery divisions.

Manning the Patrol Craft.

These estimates, however, do not contemplate finding crews for the great numbers of scout patrol craft. Presumably the young officers to be graduated this month will be used either to command these vessels or to relieve more experienced junior officers from battleship duty for that purpose. Probably many of the patrols will be commanded by warrant or petty officers of the navy, or by yachtsmen or merchant marine officers who may volunteer for service. Their crews also probably would be made up largely of volunteers with enough trained men to teach the others to handle the guns.

On the surface the war department is taking no steps toward making ready for war. The facts are, however, that very complete plans for remobilization of the national guard have been prepared and that provision has been made to secure promptly enough additional officers to organize a force of 500,000 volunteers. No move to call out such an army can be made, however, without congressional authorization.

Recruiting for the regular army is still making good progress. Reports given out today show that thirteen districts obtained more men during February than they were required to enlist to fill their quota fixed by the department.

The reports show that a total of 863 recruits have been obtained through postmasters, as provided in the national defense act, since instructions went out. The department is gradually getting this new feature of recruiting in working order and expects big results soon.

FIRE AND DYNAMITE USED BY GERMANS

destroyed and one was driven down damaged. Two of our airplanes are missing."

According to Reuter's British headquarters correspondent, the British advance has reached a line east of Bapaume, extending from Vaulx-Vraucourt, four miles notrheast of Bapaume, to Ypres, six miles east-southeast of Bapaume.

The correspondent, describing the vagaries of the German retirement, says:

"Sometimes the British find villages held by rear guard forces; sometimes the enemy has completely disappeared. For instance, after the occupation of Peronne, a patrol passed forward two miles to the northeast without getting into touch with the enemy.

"In another case a patrol crossed the Somme by a partly damaged bridge and hurried into a village a mile away, only to discover it empty.

"It is an interesting fact that the British are holding practically the line which Joffre chose for an attempt to make a stand during the great retreat, but was unable to hold under the great pressure of the Germans."

FRENCH CONTINUE TO TAKE TOWNS.

Paris, March 19.—The French, closely following the retiring Germans, reoccupied Guiscard last night, and at several points reached the railroad from Ham to Neale, the war office announces. Troops were pushed along the national road to St. Quentin.

East of Neale the second German position was captured.

The statement says 100 villages have been reoccupied by the French in three days. Many of these towns had been devastated. Thousands of persons whom the Germans were unable to send to the rear came forward to greet the French.

On the Verdun front the Germans made a heavy attack between Avocourt and Dead Man's Hill, after artillery preparation. They penetrated the French line on a front of 250 yards, but were ejected from part of this position after violent hand-to-hand fighting.

The French troops today have occupied about twenty additional villages and small towns in their advance on the retreating Germans. They have gone beyond Ham, on the Somme river, and Chauny, on the Oise, which brings them appreciably nearer to the St. Quentin-Laon line.

The official statement announcing these gains reads:

"In the course of the day our troops have gone beyond Ham, on the Somme river, and Chauny, on the Oise. We hold a great number of localities between these two towns.

"Our cavalry, diverging several kilometers' north of Ham, captured a convoy that was retiring in the direction of St. Quentin. Our advance reached on this point a depth of 35 kilometers (nearly 22 miles).

"South of Chauny our detachments reached the general line of Ailette-Soissons, which has been entirely cleared. Northeast of Crouy our advance forces progressed along the road to Maubeuge.

"Today about twenty additional villages and small towns were liberated.

"The enemy before his retirement devastated the country. Fruit trees were cut or torn down; fields were overturned by mines that had opened up great craters; numerous villages were completely burned. The inhabitants, without shelter or sustenance, were fed by our troops. Roads of communication were cut at several points and all bridges were destroyed.

"In Champagne the artillery fighting became violent in the afternoon in the region of the Butte du Mesnil and west of Auberive.

"On the left bank of the Meuse we recaptured almost all the trench elements that the enemy had entered. The fighting continues."

Belgian Communcation: "There was light cannonading in the direction of Noordschoote; heavier artillery fighting near Het Sas and Steenstraete, where the Belgian guns energetically counter-shelled the German artillery."

GERMANS ADMIT BIG RETIREMENT.

Berlin, March 19.—(Via Sayville.)—Evacuation of territory over a wider sector on the French front extending from Arras to the Aisne river is announced by the German war office.

Several lines of French trenches over an extent of 500 metres in one section and 800 metres in another on the Verdun front were stormed yesterday by the Germans. Nearly 500 French prisoners were taken.

The statement dealing with the western front follows:

"During the last few days a strip of land between the district of Arras and the Aisne has been systematically evacuated by us. The strategic movements were prepared long ago and were carried out without being disturbed by the enemy, who followed in only a hesitating manner. Our protecting troops by perspicacious and energetic conduct cast a veil over the abandonment of the positions and the departure of our troops. In the abandoned district the means of communication useful to the enemy have been destroyed. A part of the population, provided with food for five days, was left.

"Yesterday near the coast, on the Artois front and on both banks of the Meuse there was lively fighting activity.

"In the afternoon companies of frequently tested regiments stormed in the southeastern part of Malancourt wood and the east slope of Hill 304 (Verdun region), several lines of French trenches on fronts of 500 and 800 meters, and brought back eight officers, 485 men and several machine guns and mine-throwers. During the night a counter attack by the French was repulsed. An advance by storming detachments on the south slope of Dead Man hill resulted in several prisoners being brought in.

"On the east bank of the Meuse an early morning attack by several French companies north of Chambrettes failed as on the preceding day."

The supplementary report issued tonight from German army headquarters says:

"In the Somme and Oise districts our protecting troops had engagements with British and French patrols.

"From the east nothing in particular is reported.

"In Macedonia, west of Presba lake and north of Monastir, the French attacks failed."

Amsterdam, March 19.—(Via London.)—A Berlin dispatch to The Handelsblad describing the German retirement on the western front says:

"As the ground abandoned now has become a battlefield, it was necessary to destroy everything that might be of service to the enemy, such as roads, shelters and the water supply. This destruction was carried out ruthlessly, but what could be of no military advantage to the enemy was spared.

"The population that was capable of military service has been brought away, so that it might not be incorporated in the enemy army or retained as peaceful workers and care for the remaining civilian population left to the enemy."

DRASTIC LAW URGED AT GREAT JUBILEE

spend on our police force in employing more teachers."

Dr. White's Address.

Dr. John C. White, Fulton county representative-elect, at this point made a typical "whoop-em-up, set 'em on fire" speech, including a psalm of victory in free verse of his own composition and hustling the ushers through the audience to collect $1,000 to defray the expenses of the meeting.

Mrs. W. H. Felton, of Cartersville, spoke as the representative of the W. C. T. U., which she said she joined in 1886 and of which she had been an earnest and active member ever since.

"During the forty years of our work," she said, "we have always ranged ourselves on the moral side of every question. In sunshine and in storm we have never lowered our flag. We have often been discouraged because often unsuccessful. We have made mistakes, but they have been honest mistakes. Now, at last, we hear the sound of victory for which we have been waiting for forty years."

Mrs. Felton said that the greatest difficulties which prohibitionists would have to encounter in future would not be the making of laws, but their enforcement.

Jerome Jones spoke as the accredited representative of the Atlanta Federation of Labor, declaring that the attitude of organized labor in enforcing temperance among its members was the greatest factor in enabling the prohibition forces to achieve the victory which they had attained. There was no class of people on earth that had more severely suffered from the ravages of the liquor traffic.

Mayor Pierpont's Address.

Mayor W. J. Pierpont, of Savannah, cited some illuminating figures to show that the enforcement of the prohibition law, far from having been a setback to business, had proved the greatest blessing that the city had ever received and was now generally so recognized.

After telling how he had supported the Reed amendment and even before it was presented, had offered a bill of his own to prohibit the shipment of liquors into dry territory, Senator Hardwick defined his position on the prohibition question as follows:

"I have never favored, and do not now favor the enactment of a nation-wide prohibition law by the congress of the United States for the reason that it is the province of each state, in my judgment, to determine what its policy shall be with respect to this purely local police question, and all my life, uniformly and consistently, without exception or qualification, I have been devotedly attached to and steadfastly loyal to that great basic fundamental principle of both English and American liberty, local self-government—home rule.

"Under our American system of government the right of each state to control its own domestic and internal affairs, to make and enforce its own police regulations, is final, complete and exclusive. For one, I shall never surrender that right, in any matter, to the general government. That principle, local self-government, is just as applicable to the liquor question as it is to any and every other local police regulation.

"I am willing, and you are willing, yes, I am anxious and you are anxious, that the people of Georgia shall enact and enforce whatever laws on this subject a majority of them may desire, and I demand, as you doubtless demand, that they shall have both the right and the power to do so without regard to what the people of any other state may think, and without waiting for the consent of any one else on earth. That is local self-government, and I am for it with all my heart and soul.

"I rejoice to see this legislation enacted for another and scarcely less important reason. I hate hypocrisy, shams and frauds. If we are to have prohibition at all, let us have real, effective, complete prohibition. Hereafter men will understand that they cannot have, lawfully, at least, prohibition on their statute books and jugs and bottles in their closets."

Resolutions Offered.

The resolutions, drawn by W. B. Stubbs, Marion M. Jackson and Walter McElreath, which were offered at the conclusion of the meeting and unanimously adopted, were as follows:

Whereas, the prohibition of the traffic in alcoholic liquors so long urged by the good women of our state and nation has been demonstrated by science, war and experience to be an economic, social and moral necessity; and,

Whereas, great benefits have accrued to our state from the enforcement of the laws heretofore enacted; therefore

Be it resolved by the people of Georgia assembled in mass meeting at the Auditorium in the capital at Atlanta, Ga.:

1st. That we heartily indorse the action of the members of the general assembly, who by adjourning made possible the enactment of the present laws.

2d. Governor Harris for including prohibition in the call for the extraordinary session of the general assembly and also the faithful men who enacted our present laws.

3d. All the officers, national, state, county and municipal, who have aided in enforcing the present laws.

4th. Governor Harris in calling the general assembly together in extra session to enact "bone-dry" legislation and protect our state from becoming the dumping ground for the liquor which the trade is so anxious to get rid of before July 1, 1917, and thus finish the glorious work of emancipating Georgia from liquor control and the consequent loss of money and productive capacity.

5th. Our senators and twelve congressmen who voted solidly for national legislation to make the District of Columbia dry, and for the Reed amendment to stop shipment into dry states, and who by their votes and solid front made Georgia the banner prohibition state of the Union.

6th. The untiring efforts of Hon. Thomas B. Felder in the work done in Washington, D. C., on behalf of the people of Georgia in helping to secure the laws already enacted, and we request that he continue to co-operate with our senators and representatives until the national constitutional amendment is enacted into law.

7th. That we earnestly urge our present general assembly to enact as speedily as possible such law or laws in keeping with the recommendation of the governor as will effectively prohibit the shipment of intoxicants into Georgia, and especially that such laws when enacted be made effective immediately.

8th. That we urge our general assembly to see that the organization of both houses shall be made in such manner as to protect the people of Georgia from liquor domination and delay, and that none but genuine temperance men, who believe in prohibition and law enforcement, shall fill the important offices and be in the majority on the committees.

9th. That the secretary of this meeting send a copy of these resolutions to the governor of Georgia, to each of our United States senators and representatives, and to each member of the senate and house of the general assembly of Georgia.

The Advertising Sword Cuts Two Ways

The advertised brand, wherever you see it, stands for better values, and is always sold at a lower price; or at best its standard price is less, quality considered, than haphazard goods without a name. So advertising at once elevates the quality and the value of an article, and guarantees one price. You pay no more than your neighbor. You will find these standard advertised articles at the grocers' and markets. Eggs are trade-marked. So is butter and ham and breakfast bacon, coffee, tea and a thousand other items. The people that put these goods up are proud to put their name on them, because they are good, and will please you, and you will continue to buy them. What is true of the markets is likewise true of the drug stores and department stores. All of these stores, as well as the manufacturers and producers, advertise these goods in The Constitution. The best values, the freshest and choicest foods, and the lowest prices are the proverbial standard of advertising found daily in this paper.

STRIKES ARE BANNED BY ADAMSON DECISION

act is neither unworkable, confiscatory, experimental nor in excess of congressional railroad regulatory authority, but in effect was compulsory arbitration, a power "which it (congress) undoubtedly possessed" and "inevitably resulted from its authority to protect interstate commerce in dealing with a situation like that before it."

Concurring in the main principles enunciated by the majority, Justice McKenna expressed the opinion that the law is an hours of service and not a wage fixing statute. He also suggested increase of railroad revenue probably would be provided if wage increases resulted.

The Dissenting Opinions.

The dissenting opinions—Justices Day and McReynolds delivering individual views and Justices Pitney and Van Devanter joining in one announcement—variously asserted that the Adamson act is void because beyond constitutional powers of congress, because it takes railroads' property without due process of law, or because it is not an hours of labor statute nor a legitimate regulation of commerce.

Justices Pitney and Van Devanter denied that congress has power to fix wages of common carriers' employees—a power upheld by the majority. Justice Day did not admit or deny such power, dissenting because, he said, the law illegally takes railroad revenues and gives them to the trainmen by "arbitrary, illegal congressional fiat."

In upholding the statute the majority reversed Federal Judge Hook's decree enjoining its enforcement and dismissed the railroads' test suit, leaving the federal government free to enforce the statute under its stringent penalties. Dismissal of about 500 other railroad injunction suits will follow as a matter of course.

The wage increase sustained dates back to January 1, when the Adamson act was made effective. Railroads have been keeping account of trainmen's wages due for prompt payment upon today's decision. The temporary wage increases are effective under the law until the Goethals' commission reports, while the future wage scales under permanent eight-hour day standard will await either private or congressional action after the report.

That the railroads will ask either congress or the interstate commerce commission to authorize rate increases to meet the increased wage costs entailed has been plainly indicated through all stages of the controversy.

Attorney General Gregory said tonight the court's finding was naturally gratifying to the government and added: "The decision disposes of the large questions immediately involved and will likely have a bearing on other issues which may develop."

Summary of Majority Opinion.

The majority opinion, as delivered by Chief Justice White, follows, in part:

"Was there power in congress under the circumstances existing to deal with the hours of work and wages of railroad employees engaged in interstate commerce, is the principal question here to be considered.

"Its solution, as well as that of other questions which also arise, will be clarified by a brief statement of the conditions out of which the contraversy arose.

"Two systems controlled in March, 1916, concerning wages of railroad employees; one, an 8-hour standard of work and wages with additional pay for overtime, governing on about 15 per cent of the railroads; the other a stated mileage task of 100 miles to be performed during ten hours with extra pay for any excess, in force on about 85 per cent of the roads."

The decision here recites that the brotherhoods in March, 1916, made formal demand on the employers for wage increases for all engaged in the movement of trains, except passenger trains. The terms of the demands, except those making article 1 applicable to yard and switching and hostling service and one making the standard obligatory on the railroads, but optional on the employees—as it left the right of employees to retain their existing system on any particular road if they elected—were outlined in Justice White's decision as follows:

"Article 1. (A)—In all road service 100 miles or less, eight hours or less will constitute a day except in passenger service. Miles in excess of 100 will be paid for at the same rate per mile.

"(B)—On runs of 100 miles or less overtime will begin at the expiration of eight hours.

"(C)—On runs of over 100 miles overtime will begin when the time on duty exceeds the miles run divided by 12½ miles per hour.

"(D)—All overtime to be computed on the minute basis and paid for at time and one-half times the pro rata rate.

"(E)—No one shall receive less for eight hours or 100 miles than they now receive for a minimum day or 100 miles for the class of engine used or for service performed.

"(F)—Time will be computed continuously from time required for duty until release from duty and responsibility at end of day or run.

1. The entire want of constitutional power to deal with the subjects embraced by the statute.

The Power Exerted.

Here the chief justice quoted the full text of the Adamson law and continued:

"There must be knowledge of the power exerted before determining where as exercised it was constitutional, and we must hence settle a dispute on that question before going further. Only an eight-hour standard for work and wages provided, is the contention on the one side; and in substance only a scale of wages was provided, is the argument on the other. . . . Both provisions are equally mandatory. . . .

"However, there is this very broad difference between the two powers exerted. The first, the eight-hour standard, is permanently fixed. The second, the fixing of the wage standard, . . . is expressly limited to the time specified in section 2 (of the law). It is expected, therefore, not permanent, but temporary, leaving the employers and employees free as to the subject of wages to govern the relations by their own agreements after the specified time. . . .

"We put the question as to the eight-hour standard entirely out of view on the ground that the authority to permanently establish it is so clearly sustained as to render the subject not disputable."

The chief justice then discussed the right of congress to create by legislative action a standard of wages for such reasonable time as it deemed necessary to afford an opportunity for the meeting of the minds of employers and employees on the subject of wages, and continued:

"If the situation which we have described and with which the act of congress dealt be taken into view . . . it would seem inevitably to result that the power to regulate necessarily obtained and was subjected to be applied to the extent necessary to provide a remedy for the situation. . . .

"This must be unless it can be said that the right to so regulate as to save and protect the public interest did not apply to a case where the destruction of the public right was imminent as the result of a dispute between the parties and their consequent failure to establish by private agreement the standard of wages which was essential; in other words, that the existence of the public right and the public power to preserve it was wholly under the control of the private right to establish a standard by agreement. Nor is it an answer to this view to suggest that the situation was one of emergency and that emergency cannot be made the source of power. The proposition begs the question, since, although an emergency may not call into life a power which has never lived, nevertheless emergency may afford a reason for the exertion of a living power already enjoyed. If acts which, if done, would interrupt, if not destroy, interstate commerce, may be, by anticipation legislatively prevented, by the same token the power to regulate may be exercised to guard against the cessation of interstate commerce threatened by a failure of employers and employees to agree as to the standard of wages, such standard being an essential prerequisite to the uninterrupted flow of interstate commerce."

Powers of Congress.

Here the chief justice recounted at length the previously acknowledged powers of congress to regulate commerce.

"In the presence of this vast body of acknowledged powers there would seem to be no ground for disputing the power which was exercised in the act which is before us so as to prescribe by law for the absence of a standard of wages caused by the failure to exercise the private right . . . to the end that no individual dispute or difference might bring ruin to the vast interests concerned. . . . What would be the value of the right to a reasonable rate if all movement in interstate commerce could be stopped as a result of a mere dispute between the parties or their failure to exert a primary private right concerning a matter of interstate commerce? Again, what purpose would be subserved by all the regulations established to secure the enjoyment by the public of an efficient and reasonable service, if there was no power in government to prevent all service from being destroyed? Further yet, what benefits would flow to society by recognizing the right, because of the public interest, to regulate the relation of employer and employee and of the employees among themselves and to give to the latter peculiar and special rights safeguarding their persons, protecting them in case of accident and giving efficient remedies for that purpose, if there was no power to remedy a situation created by a dispute between employers and employees as to rate of wages, which, if not remedied, would leave the public helpless, the whole people ruined and all the homes of the land submitted to a danger of the most serious character? . . .

"And finally, to what derision would it not reduce the proposition that government had power to enforce the duty of operation, if that power did not extend to doing that which was essential to prevent operation from being completely stopped? . . .

"We are of opinion that the reasons stated conclusively establish that from the point of view of inherent power the act which is before us was clearly within the legislative power of congress to adopt. . . .

"If it be conceded that the power to enact the statute was in effect, the exercise of the right to fix wages where, by reason of the dispute, there had been a failure to fix by agreement, it would simply serve to show the nature and character of the regulation essential to protect the public right and safeguard the movement of interstate commerce, not involving any denial of the authority to adopt it.

Rights of Carriers and Employees.

"And this leaves only to be generally considered whether the right to exercise such a power under the conditions which existed was limited or restrained by the private rights of the carriers or their employees.

"As to the carrier: As engaging in the business of interstate commerce carriage subjects the carrier to the lawful power to congress to regulate . . . it follows that the very absence of the scale of wages by agreement and the impediment and destruction of interstate commerce which was threatened called for the appropriate and relevant remedy, the creation of a standard by operation of law binding upon the carrier.

"As to the employer: Here again it is obvious that what we have previously said is applicable and decisive, since whatever would be the right of an employee engaged in a private business to demand such wages as he desires, to leave the employment if he does not get them, and by concert of action to agree with others to leave upon the same condition. Such rights are necessarily subject to limitation when employment is accepted in a business charged with a public interest and to which the power to regulate commerce possessed by congress applied and the resulting right to fix in case of disagreement and dispute a standard of wages as we have seen necessarily obtained. . . .

"Having thus adversely disposed of the contentions as to the inherent want of power, we come to consider all the other propositions which group themselves under a common heading, that is:

"2. Such an abuse of the power if possessed as rendered its exercise unconstitutional.

"The want of equality is based upon two considerations. The one is the exemption of certain short-line and electric railroads. We dismiss it because it has been adversely disposed of by many previous decisons. The second rests upon the charge that unlawful inequality results because the statute deals not with all, but only with the wages of employees engaged in the movement of trains. But such employees were those concerning whom the dispute in which wages existed, growing out of which the threat of interruption of interstate commerce arose—a consideration which establishes an adequate basis for the statutory classification. . . ."

The chief justice dealt at length with the argument that the law was "unworkable," and, after disposing of this argument, he said:

"Considering the extreme contentions relied upon in the light of this situation, we can discover no basis upon which they may rest. . . .

"When it is considered that no contention is made that in any view the enforcement of the act would result in confiscation, the misconception upon which all the propositions proceed becomes apparent. . . .

"Being of the opinion that congress had the power to adopt the act in question, whether it be viewed as a direct fixing of wages to meet the absence of a standard on that subject resulting from the dispute between the parties or as the exertion by congress of the power which it undoubtedly possessed to provide by appropriate legislation for compulsory arbitration—a power which inevitably resulted from its authority to protect interstate commerce in dealing with a situation like that which was before it—we conclude that the court below erred in holding the statute was not within the power of congress to enact, and in restraining its enforcement and its decree must be and it is reversed and the cause remanded with directions to dismiss the bill."

BROTHERHOOD MEN IN A JOYFUL MOOD OVER THE OUTCOME

New York, March 19.—With the nation-wide strike averted and the Adamson act declared constitutional, the controversy that has raged between the railroads and their employees for nearly a year over the question of hours and wages, today passed into history.

Appealed to by the president's mediators to yield on the ground of patriotism to the demands of the employees, the railroads just before daybreak today consented to an agreement whereby the employees receive the eight-hour basis work day and pro rata pay for overtime, the same as that proposed by the Adamson law. Several hours later the United States supreme court upheld the constitutionality of the Adamson act, and what the brotherhoods obtained by their threat to call a nation-wide strike at 7 o'clock, the supreme court legally assured to them by its decree.

All that remains is to decide how much back pay the employees are entitled to, inasmuch as the agreement signed by both sides and the Adamson law provide that the operation of the new wages and hour schedule shall be retroactive beginning January 1. The brotherhoods and the railroad managers will get together on this matter tomorrow to decide how it will be computed. It is estimated the employees have between $12,000,000 and $13,000,000 coming to them.

The brotherhood chiefs were in a happy mood today as they dispatched their code telegrams calling off the strike. They had not won all they had asked from the railroads when they first presented their demands on March 30, 1916, having lost the time and a half for overtime feature, but they had secured what they agreed to take last August when they accepted the Adamson law's provisions and which the railroads fought in the courts.

W. G. Lee, spokesman for the brotherhoods, made it plain today that he looked for peace in the railroad world for a long time. Asked whether there was any intention to bring up in the conferences tomorrow the question of punitive overtime, Mr. Lee said:

"That will not be brought up now. We believe that overtime can largely be done away with by speeding up the schedules."

Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior; William B. Wilson, secretary of labor; Daniel Willard and Samuel Gompers, the mediators of the council of national defense, who brought the controversy to an end after 48 hours of almost incessant effort, returned to Washington this afternoon. Mr. Lane, in a statement expressing the satisfaction of his committee over the outcome, praised the railroad managers "for their high sense of obligation and their unwillingness to permit any embarrassment to the country at this time of extreme strain."

NO MORE STRIKES TO WORRY CONCERNS IN I.-S. COMMERCE

Kansas City, Mo., March 19.—The Adamson law decision by the supreme court means the end of all strikes in industries or utilities engaged in interstate service, in the opinion of Frank Hagerman, special government attorney in the Missouri, Oklahoma and Gulf railroad case which led up to today's ruling. This probably will be done, Mr. Hagerman declared in a statement issued here late today, by the empowerment of some body, such as the interstate commerce commission, to settle any such labor dispute that may arise.

"The public is to be congratulated on this decision," the statement reads. "It evidently means that the railroads and their employees are engaged in a public service. The great interest of the public is to see that trains are kept in motion. This requires men as well as engines and cars. These men must be efficient. To be so requires health of body and contentment of mind. Unreasonable hours and lack of fair pay impair the health and breed discontent.

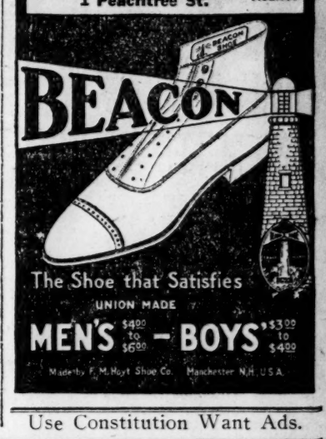

"It is not, however, a one-sided proposition. The men, having devoted themselves with the railroads to this public service, must do their part.

"Therefore the movement of trains must not be stopped by such controversies. If one arises and both parties cannot agree, congress can keep trains moving by fixing the wages and working conditions, just as it can settle public controversies as to rates to be charged and service to be rendered to shippers and passengers.

"The logical result probably will be the empowering of some tribunal, like the interstate commerce commission, to settle labor disputes. This would end strikes in interstate industrial work and give the men a tribunal from which they always could obtain justice."

The natural colors mentioned in the Bible are white, black, red, yellow and green. The only fundamentary color of which the ancient Hebrews appear to have had a clear conception was red. They had no scientific knowledge of colors.

ATLANTA NEW YORK PARIS

These Are the Days for Spring Coats

There is a crispness in the air that the sun at its best does not dissipate, but the sun is shining its warning of a new season and new life and—new clothes. And when we think of new clothes we think of the new coats, the new bright colored coats, so graceful, so "easy" to wear and so comfortable these days.

We have several great cases filled with such coats right now.

They are velours and Bolivia cloths and burellas and mixtures and plaids among the woolens and taffetas and poplins among the silks.

The many favored shades of green, the tans that extend into copper color, the rose shades and ever so many blues.

They come severely plain, and belted, some hanging loose from the shoulders and their rather large collars, some gathered in at the waist.

Hip lengths at $12.50 and upwards, seven-eights lengths at $19.50 and upwards to $67.50.

C.-J.-DuB. Co. Hats Have Scored

There's something genuine, something distinguishing about the C.-J.-DuB. Co. hats—if we are to believe what was said of them during last week's initial display days.

What is it?

The finger of Paris and other artists, a touch that is indescribable, but ever so real and impressive. And it has little to do with price as evidenced by

Making It a Good Time To Buy Bed Linens

By Lowering the Prices of Standard Brands of Sheets, Pillow Cases, Spreads

These sheets and pillows are the standard qualities that we can find in America to sell at the prices at which they were marked until now.

There can be no question about that. They are worth the prices they bore.

To reduce these prices creates an opportunity. And we haven't the slightest doubt that thrifty housekeepers will be quick to take advantage of it and to supply themselves for the spring and summer.

Mrs. Van Renssalaer Will Address Atlanta Women

Mrs. William Lawson Peel, chairman for Georgia of the Woman's National League for Service, calls a meeting of all the women of Atlanta for Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the ballroom of the Capital City club to hear an address by Mrs. Coffin Van Renssalaer, of New York, a member of the national board of directors.

Mrs. Van Renssalaer will explain the purpose and plans of the league, which is one for patriotic service, and afterward the ladies will have an opportunity to meet her.

To Give Concert in Atlanta.

Of especial interest to all old Georgia alumni and the college set is the announcement that the University Glee and Mandolin club will end their annual state tour with a performance at the Atlanta theater Saturday night, March 24.

This year the club will present not only a new, complete minstrel show, but will combine with it a medley of college songs, ballads and instrumental music. An interesting feature will be a scene laid at midnight on the Mexican border, where a patrol of United States soldiers have encamped. In this number the singing of S. R. Kassewitz, leader of the club, in "Sole Mia," accompanied by Farrar Bond, violinist, has scored tremendous success everywhere. Second only to this number in popularity has been the artistic singing of Edward Anchors in "Sentinel Asleep;" the perfect harmony and catchy songs of the quartet and the Hawaiian music of the mandolin quintet.

Those who witnessed the performance last year pronounced it the best production of its kind traveling under the name of a college glee club. This year, with scarcely any losses in men and additional novelties, they are making a strong bid to surpass the enviable reputation they have already established for themselves.

Important Meeting of City Federation.

Mrs. Spencer R. Atkinson calls a meeting of the presidents' council of the City Federation of Women's clubs for 3 o'clock this afternoon. at the chamber of commerce.

Mrs. Armande Carroll In Opera Recitals.

The opera recitals to be presented by Mrs. Armande Carroll in the Cable hall are being anticipated with much pleasure by those patrons of Mrs. Carroll's opera lecture which she gave last year at the home of Mrs. Hugh Willet. Mrs. Carroll will be assisted by a group of well known artists, and the readings will be interpretative not only of the operas to be presented, but of the various work of the musical composers, their genius, and the artists who are to interpret them in Atlanta.

The proceeds of the lectures are to go to the fund for Tallulah Falls School for Mountain Boys and Girls. Tickets are on sale for the lectures and have been sent to former patrons of Mrs. Carroll's lectures. Any information desired on the subject may be obtained from Mrs. Hugh Willet or from Mrs. Armande Carroll, president of the Music Study club.

The house was filled with the brightness and fragrance of garden flowers, and a delicious supper was served.

Agnes Scott Alumnae Luncheon.

The luncheon given by the endowment committee of Agnes Scott college at Hotel Ansley on the afternoon of March 17 was a unique and delightful occasion, which combined both business and pleasure.

The dining room was beautifully decorated in flags and white and purple pennants, and the place cards were hand-painted in the college colors of purple and white and were lettered with gold.

The purpose of this luncheon was to inaugurate a campaign of the alumnae of Agnes Scott to raise $100,000 for endowment.

A delicious luncheon was served, after which many interesting talks were made.

Mrs. C. W. Dieckmann, president of the Agnes Scott alumnae, gave a lucid and concise account of the needs of a college, the specific needs of Agnes Scott and statistics to show what the other eleven standard colleges for women had accomplished.

Inspiring talks were made by Dr. F. H. Gaines, Mrs. Frank Inman, Mr. J. K. Orr and Miss Nannette Hopkins.

The endowment committee, which includes some of Atlanta's most earnest and representative women, was divided into three parts or subcommittees; one to secure subscriptions, another to plan for benefit plays, luncheons and other entertainments to be given by the alumnae, and an executive committee.

Spring flowers in profusion decorated the rooms and in the dining room the buffet table had as an artistic centerpiece an Italian marble compote filled with fruit in rich tones.

At each end of the table turquoise blue jars were filled with yellow calandelum and showered with Parma violets and about the table were placed little white marble birds.

Mrs. Dozier Lowndes and Mrs. L. F. Montgomery poured coffee.

Joseph Bonnet, the celebrated organist from Paris, whose concert at the Auditorium tonight will be one event in his official mission, which is to spread the gospel of French art in this country, his government having given him furlough from the army to do this peaceful patriotic service.

He is one of a group of leading artists from France who, after a period of service at the front, have been sent by the French, which has all along given official recognition and support to the fine arts as a leading national asset, to make French music known abroad under ideal auspices, that is through the medium of her best singers and instrumentalists.

The reception will be tendered M. Bonnet by the Alliance Francaise in Atlanta and the Georgia chapter, American Guild of Organists. They invite all music lovers as well as all members of the alliance and the guild to meet the honor guest.

TAFT TO SPEAK TWICE IN ATLANTA ON FRIDAY

Former President Will Address Gathering at Auditorium and Speak at Banquet.

The committee on arrangements for the dinner to ex-President Taft on the evening of Friday, March 23, at the Capital City club, had planned only one engagement for the former president, but at a meeting of the committee on Monday afternoon in the directors' room of the chamber of commerce, it was announced that plans are now being made for a great meeting at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Auditorium, when there will be ample room to accommodate the crowds who will be eager to hear Mr. Taft.

The arrangements for the afternoon meeting were begun when it became known that there would be an extra session of the legislature, and it was thought better for the members of both houses to hear Mr. Taft in a body, which could not be done at the meeting in the evening, because of the size of the Capital City club hall.

The committee, which is headed by Albert Howell, desiring that the meeting at the Auditorium should be as democratic as possible is now seeking the co-operation of various organizations. Mrs. Spencer Atkinson, president of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs, has appointed a committee to cooperate with a committee, which has also been appointed, from the Atlanta chapter of the American Red Cross, and large representative groups from each of these organizations, along with groups from several civic organizations, will appear in the audience and on the stage.

Both houses of the legislature will be extended special invitations to attend the meeting, and reserved seats will be provided for them.

There will be appointed a large reception committee to receive Mr. Taft. At the dinner Friday evening the number of seats will necessarily be limited to 300. It will be a democratic gathering, open to all who apply for seats, and a freedom in the selection of seats has been provided, so that frind may sit next to friend, and the whole affair be congenial. There will be appropriate decorations of United States flags and other insignia. The tables will have place cards in which the eagle and snow white dove will figure. On the menu card will be shown a picture of Mr. Taft, the American colors, and pictures of the coats of arms of the state and the city.

Albert Howell will act as toastmaster and introduce Mr. Taft, having been elected unanimously at the meeting Monday afternoon. A special committee on speakers was also elected, consisting of Mr. Howell and Ivan E. Allen, president of the chamber of commerce.

Mrs. Craigie Lectures On "Shakespeare's Use Of the Bible" Tonight

Mrs. Charles O. H. Craigie, of Washington, D. C., will lecture tonight on "Shakespeare's Use of the Bible," before the Tech students. Mrs. Craigie is president of the Washington Shakespeare society and is devoting her energies to organize a national federation of Shakespearean students.

Mrs. Craigie proposes that a memorial building be erected in Washington, where each year the members may meet in a national conference. "Atlanta has a very small Shakespeare society, I find," said Mrs. Craigie, "but I intend to establish a large one in the city, composed of both men and women, before I leave."

On Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock Mrs. Craigie will address the Georgia Equal Suffrage association at the chamber of commerce. She states that she heartily believes in equal suffrage for women, but that militancy is detrimental to the cause.

COTTON STILL ADVANCES.

Spots Jump $1.25 a Bale, Resting at 19 Cents.

Jumping $1.25 per bale in price, spot cotton advanced 25 points Monday, resting at the close of the day at 19 cents, the highest price since last fall.

The rise in spots was due to the great demand in all markets and the fact that there was little selling in other places and none in Atlanta, according to reports at the Atlanta cotton exchange.

The local exchange quotation is 3-16 of a cent below that given out by the Atlanta Warehouse company.

BANQUET FOR SOLDIERS PLANNED BY COMMITTEE

Nearly $1,700 Already Raised and Success of Entertainment Is Assured.

Subscriptions for the entertainment of the Fifth regiment and other Atlanta troops on their return from the border have reached a total of $1,681. The committee is already busy planning for the reception, of which a banquet at the Auditorium is to be the chief feature.

According to reports received from the border Monday, the Fifth regiment is scheduled to start for home on March 22. The Georgia troops will be the last to leave the border. As the schedules have hitherto been delayed on account of the slow arrival of Pullman cars, it is not unlikely that it may be several days after March 22 before the Georgia contingent gets away.

DAN CUPID PROVES MIGHTIER THAN LAW WITH THIS COUPLE

Despite the injunction restraining them from speaking to one another until the court decides whether or not they shall be man and wife, Cupid gave Mrs. Hattie Foster Adams and her husband of a day, Arthur Adams, opportunity for whispered terms of affection at the courthouse Monday morning.

The mother, a resident of Lakewood, seeks to annul the wedding, objecting to the groom, and pleading that her daughter's love for him has made her temporarily unsound. She instituted habeas corpus proceedings, which restored the girl to her side for the time being, the court issuing a restraining order preventing the couple from being together.

The case was to have been tried Monday morning, but was postponed until this morning. Estranged bride and groom met in the corridors. They began a whispered conversation. The bride's mother, frantic with fear that the girl's action would undo the process of the courts, appealed to lawyers, bailiffs and sheriff deputies to remove the groom from sight of his bride.

She eventually succeeded in prevailing upon her daughter to leave the courthouse.

DESPONDENT WOMEN

Constantly recurring suffering gives women "the blues." Comparatively few women realize that despondency, together with backache, headache, and that "dragging down" feeling indicate some derangement of the feminine organs, for which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remedy.

It is said that this famous old root and herb remedy has been the means of restoring more women to health and consequent happiness than any other remedy in the world.

Don't wait until your life is wrecked by neglect and suffering. Give the Compound a trial.—(adv.)

PRAISES CARDUI AS GOD-SEND

To Women. This Alabama Lady's Sincere Expression of Her Experience Will Interest You.

Quinton, Ala.—Mrs. Rebecca Cox, of this place, writes: "About 22 years ago I had been in bad health for a year or more, and it didn't look as though I could get well. . . . The beginning of this trouble, I overdid myself. I began suffering with my back . . . it hurt so . . . The doctors said it was change of life . . . and an operation was all that would help me. I felt I couldn't have that and my husband did not believe in patent medicines. When I asked him to get Cardui, he said, 'that's just a dollar thrown away,' but to please me, he would get it. I suppose there was a year I was never hungry and after taking Cardui, my husband said 'I had better order a carload of corn and meat with it.' After one bottle I felt better. I took about a dozen bottles. I have never had an operation . . . I have worked in the fields, done our washing, ironing and cooking; we have two orphan children added to our family for which I do as my own. I can praise Cardui as a God-send to women."

Cardui, the woman's tonic, is for sale at all druggists. Get it when in need of a good, reliable, strengthening tonic. Give it a fair trial.—(adv.)

This Store Sells Wooltex Garments made by The H. Black Co. Young Women's Coat and Suit Makers

How gay should a sports suit be?

YOUR safe test is "Gay and cheerful as you please—but not crude." It's a fact that people with taste are often offended these days with cheap, blatant things which should never be shown, much less worn.

But the true sport suit is such a joy that every really smart dresser is bound to be enthusiastic about it—it is so full of picturesque possibilities. The right ones usually show a broad collar, a wide cuff, and are made of wool velour, burella cloth, or some other of those beautiful rough wool mixtures. There is no question what our trade wants.

The illustrations give you just a hint as to how fresh, spirited almost girlish, are the lines of these H. Black Company Wooltex creations. It's a surprise to many women to find how well these garments for young women look upon them---but it's no surprise to us---they are young women's suits for all women.

You, who believe it's a duty to look your best, will find these charming sport clothes ready waiting for you to see yourself in them in front of one of our mirrors. Come see them, whether you buy or not.

THE MAGIC FLUID

Few drops and corns or calluses loosen and lift off with fingers. No pain!

The world owes thanks to the genius in Cincinnati who discovered freezone, the new ether drug.

Tiny bottles of the magic fluid can now be had at any drug store for a few cents. You simply apply a few drops of this freezone upon a tender, aching corn or a hardened callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose and shriveled that you lift it off with the fingers. Not a bit of pain or soreness is felt when applying freezone or afterwards. It doesn't even irritate the skin or flesh.

For a few cents one can now get rid of every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, as well as painful calluses on bottom of feet. Everyone who tries freezone becomes an enthusiast because it really doesn't hurt or pain one particle. Genuine freezone has a yellow label. Look for yellow label.

AT ONCE! STOPS STOMACH MISERY AND INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes sick, sour, gassy Stomachs feel fine.

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly; ferment into acids and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Dyspeptic, jot this down: Pape's Diapepsin helps neutralize the excessive acids in the stomach so your food won't sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely quick, so certainly effective. No difference how badly your stomach is upset you usually get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it helps to regulate your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure. "Pape's Diapepsin" is positive in neutralizing the acidity, so the misery won't come back very quickly.

You feel different as soon as "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eructations of undigested food, your head clears and you feel fine.

Go now, make the best investment you ever made, by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder due to acid fermentation.—(adv.)

GEORGIA WILL BE DRYEST PART OF UNITED STATES

treasury of the county in which the case is brought. This amendment is said to be directed against automobiles and "mountain schooners" doing a traffic in illicit liquors, and is designed to make more effective the provisions in the bill aimed at wiping out illicit distillery practices in Georgia. It is not construed to apply to railroads or common carriers.

The other provision is that any doctor, licensed druggist or pharmacist, visions of the bill, shall never again be entitled to practice his profession or engage in a similar business in Georgia. This provision is directed at the possibility of the illegal dispensation of liquors by prescription or in any other manner through drug stores or pharmacies.

The assertion was made at the conference that a doctor in a certain Georgia county had recently issued 600 liquor prescriptions in one week.

The committee having charge of the bill is as follows:

From the House: Representatives H. W. Hopkins, of Thomas, chairman; T. W. Davidson, of Putnam; John Knight, of Berrien; L. S. Ledbetter, of Polk; W. H. Dorris, of Crisp.

From the Senate: Senators W. J. Eakes, of the twenty-seventh; E. T. Moon, of the thirty-seventh; J. R. McFarland, of the forty-fourth.

"VALLEY OF DRY BONES."

Judge H. W. Hopkins, representative from Thomas county, prohibition floor leader of the last extra session and chairman of the committee having charge of the present bill, in speaking upon the bill Monday afternoon, stated that, while he reserved the privilege of making any suggestions which might occur to him as wise, he did not believe that the bill could in any way be improved.

"Your excellency and gentlemen of the legislature," he said, "as I heard this bill read Georgia appeared to me in the light of Ezekiel's vision of the valley of dry bones."

Certainly, to bring about such a condition in Georgia has been the endeavor of the governor and his advisers, and it was the concensus of opinion at the Monday meeting that this end has been most effectually achieved in the governor's bill.

The governor made it clear that he does not desire to claim credit for the bill, but asked that every member of the legislature who feels disposed to do sign the bill and become a co-author of it. Judge Hopkins announced that he will have a copy of the bill upon his desk in the hall of the house of representatives Tuesday morning from 9 o'clock until the legislature assembles, where members who desire may affix their signatures to the bill.

PLANS OF OPPOSITION.

There were last night indications that the extra session will not have smooth sailing. It appeared reasonably certain that the opposition to "done-dryness" in legislature will attempt dilatory tactics, possibly with the view of obtaining a postponement of the date of effectiveness of the act, in event the opposition can make a sufficient show of strength to sustain a filibuster.

That the prohibitionists have sufficient strength to pass the proposed measure is undenied. Certain it is that the "bone dry" protagonists will insist upon the act's becoming effective immediately upon receipt of the governor's signature. This is particularly true in view of the fact that a postponement of the date of effectiveness, with the regular session of the legislature coming immediately upon the heels of the extra session, would frustrate the end for which the extra session was called; namely, for immediate relief from interstate shipments of liquor into Georgia.

It seemed last night likely that a test of strength between the two wings of the house will come Tuesday morning, when failure of the opposition to prohibition to carry out a program might result in a cessation of active opposition to the immediate passage of the "bone dry" measure of the administration.

Last night the probabilities of the first day's session seemed to line themselves up about as follows:

TEST OF STRENGTH.

The first test of strength will likely come upon the election of a clerk of the house.

For this place there are three candidates, the fourth candidate, L. W. Reeves, of Cartersville, having announced Monday that he will not offer for election at the extra session. The remaining three candidates are Bismark Moore, of Atlanta, present journal clerk of the house; Lindley W. Camp, of Marietta, present calendar clerk of the house, and J. B. Jackson, of Jones county.

Soon after the arrival of the large proportion of the members of the house in Atlanta Monday it seemed to be evident that Camp and Moore had a considerable lead over Jackson, and that the race between the first two is rather close. It was reported last night that the possibilities were strong that Mr. Jackson would retire from the race Tuesday morning, and leave the fight between Moore and Camp.

The indications are that the race between Moore and Camp is rather clase, and personal friendship for the two candidates figures largely in the race, so that it is possible that, should the lines be drawn in this race, it might not constitute a fair test of strength of the opposing factions of the house.

The same condition might also hold in the race for the messenger of the house. Candidates mentioned last night for this place were W. C. Davis, of Atlanta; J. B. D. Paulk, of Fitzgerald, who is a brother of the late messenger; J. O. Morgan, of Covington, and M. G. Murchison, of Washington county.

TENTATIVE PROGRAM.

Failure of a test of strength in these two contests, however, will not bring peace in the camp, according to a tentative program which was reported Monday night.

It is anticipated that immediately upon the election of a clerk and messenger and the perfection of the organization of the house, a motion will be made for adjournment sine die, and that a strong fight will be made to bring this motion to a vote.

When introduction of bills becomes the order of business, it is expected that the administration bill will not be the only bill introduced.

Representative John Bale, of Floyd, is expected to introduce another bill to provide "bone dry" prohibition in Georgia.

Representative Robert Blackburn, of Fulton, is expected to introduce a bill calling for the creation of a state constabulary for the enforcement of prohibition and other laws in Georgia.

Representative Blackburn, it is also expected, will introduce a resolution calling for a joint session of the house and senate for the purpose of inaugurating Governor-elect Hugh M. Dorsey, although Mr. Dorsey is not in the city, and has stated through the press that he countenances no such move and that he does not expect to take office until the convening of the next regular session of the legislature in June.

INDORSE WILSON.

Another resolution expected to be introduced is one indorsing the foreign policy of President Wilson's administration.

A joint session of the house and senate is expected at noon for the purpose of receiving the governor's message setting forth his reasons for calling the extra session of the legislature and his suggestions as to the sort of legislation that the general assembly should enact. The governor will deliver his message in person, and it is expected to be an address of some length since it is known that the governor proposes to go fully into the details of the situation which caused him to decide upon an extra session.

It is not unlikely that the opposition to the "bone dry" bill will undertake dilatory tactics for the purpose of delaying introduction of the administration measure before 1 o'clock, which is the hour of automatic adjournment of the legislature under the rules. In view of this possibility, the "bone dry" advocates will probably early undertake to have this rule regarding automatic adjournment suspended in order that Tuesday's session of the house may be of unlimited duration, if necessary, thus insuring the introduction of the administration measure and getting it read for the first time, which would save a day in the length of the deliberations of the house.

Mr. Bale's Bill.

The bill of Mr. Bale prohibits the manufacture, sale, transportation within or into this state or the possession of any intoxicating liquors, with the exception of alcohol for medicinal, sacramental, scientific and mechanical purposes.

It provides for the dispensing of liquor for medicinal purposes upon safeguarded prescriptions, and for the inspection of such liquor and methods of dispensing by the chief drug inspector of the state.

Punishment as for a misdemeanor is provided for a first violation and as for a felony for a second violation.

WHITE GLOVES CLEANED FOR LESS THAN A PENNY

MAGICLEAN DOES IT.

Miss Lily Reynolds, of 25 Druid Circle, Has Tried and Proven Magiclean.

"I used Magiclean on white washable kid gloves and white buckskin shoes that were soiled as such things get from general wear for shopping, etc. To cleanse the gloves, I put them on and wet them in cold water, and then used Magiclean as if for soaping my hands, rubbing every part carefully and thoroughly until lathered, then rinsed, and rinsed and rinsed until the water showed clear. Then I pulled the gloves off wrong side out and squeezed as dry as possible, and after shaking them thoroughly, hung in a cool, shady place. The gloves dried soft and perfectly white."

HOWELL CLOUD 12 Edgewood Avenue Alongside Nunnally's

We Have Convinced a Lot of People This Way

"NO MORE heavy cars for me," a well-known man told us only a few days ago.

We had just given him a ride in the Franklin and he had just found out what scientific light weight means.

This man was one who had believed that nothing but a big car—heavy and high-powered—could do what he requires of a car.

He talked about holding the road. We let him pick out the roughest going he could and made him take corners fast—and all such tests that tend to throw a car off its feet.

Now he knows that it is scientific light weight, instead of heavy dead weight, that keeps a car in and on the road.

He talked about fast time. But now he knows his rigidly-built, heavy car, with its big, gas-eating engine, could not follow our flexibly-built Franklin over 100 miles of roads as they come.

Downtown in traffic, the Franklin surprised him again. He found that light weight is more of a figure in "get-away" than big power, and that light weight is far easier to stop and steer than heavy weight.

When we got back after the trip, we measured the gasoline used. "Just about half what my big car would have used," he said.

Too bad we couldn't have shown him on this trip how correspondingly well the tires last or how small is the wear and tear.

But we did show him some owners' records that averaged between 8,000 and 10,000 miles per set of tires, and some re-sale prices of Franklins from 50% to 100% higher than other cars of the same age.

"A car that will do so much for so little is enough evidence for me that Franklin light weight gives maximum service," was this man's conclusion.

INTERNED GERMANS BREAK FOR LIBERTY

Seven Sailors of Commerce Raiders Flee at Philadelphia, But Are Captured.

Philadelphia, March 19.—Under cover of darkness, seven sailors of the German commerce raiders Kronprinz Wilhelm and Prinz Eitel Friedrich, interned at the Philadelphia navy yard, made an attempt to escape tonight, all seven being captured by marines and police after shots were fired at the fugitives.

A Sentry heard splashes in the back channel and fired a warning shot. A police guard saw four of the German sailors swimming about fifty yards from the interned vessels and fired over the heads of the men. The Germans swam back to the sea wall, surrendering without resistance.

Meantime, as a marine detachment was rushed toward the back channel, three other German sailors slipped into the meadows. Running along the sea wall to avoid the barbed wire barricade partly encircling the interned ships, they tried to slip past a sentry. The sentry fired and ran towards the little group. Mounted police galloped over the meadows and caught two of the fleeing men. The other was found soon afterwards.

While the hunt was in progress the powerful searchlight of the cruiser Salem, tied up near the raiders, was swung back and forth over the channel and the meadows.

POWER PLANTS OUSTED FROM FOREST RESERVES

Washington, March 19.—In sustaining injunctions ousting Utah hydro-electric power companies from federal forest reservations, the supreme court today upheld federal and limited state sovereignty in developing resources in western "public land" states.

The court maintained power of congress to regulate all public lands and denied that its authority was limited to lands actually used for federal purposes. All government regulations were not specifically upheld, but the court refused to disturb any of them. It also held the government entitled to reasonable compensation from the Utah power concerns for use of lands occupied.

MARSHALL ADDRESSES SOUTHERN CHAUTAUQUA

Vice President Speaks to 5,000 Person at Macon—Chautauqua in Full Swing.

Macon, Ga., March 19.—(Special.)—Vice President Thomas R. Marshall was the speaker at the night session of the Chautauqua of the South tonight, addressing an audience of nearly 5,000 people in Chautauqua auditorium. His subject was, "National Tendencies," and he touched on matters of nation-wide importance at this time, especially the German situation.

The vice president and Mrs. Marshall arrived here this afternoon from Athens. They were met by a reception committee and escorted to the Hotel Dempsey, where an informal dinner was later given in their honor. Covers were laid for three hundred people. The vice president responded to a toast, "Our Duty to the Nation," given by Judge W. H. Felton.

The chautauqua sessions of the morning and afternoon were given over to the Southern Conference for Education and Industry, with its several branches, including the Conference of Taxation, League of Southern Writers, Conference on Education of Teachers, Conference of Teachers of English and Conferences on Library and Recreation.

Chautauqua Gets Busy.

The general session of the conference this morning was devoted to the raising of standards for high and elementary school teachers and for school supervisors and superintendents. Papers were given by J. W. Brister, president of the West Tennessee Normal school, and by Carter Alexander, of the George Peabody College for Teachers.

This afternoon Myrtle Moses, prima donna of the Chicago Grand Opera company, gave a recital at the Chautauqua auditorium before an audience of 1,500 people.

Tonight, as a prelude to the address by the vice president, the New York Artist Trio gave a recital.

Tomorrow the general conference of the Southern Conference for Education and Industry will be devoted to the question of taxation. Among the speakers will be Judge John C. Hart, tax commissioner for Georgia, and Governor C. H. Brough, of Arkansas.

In the afternoon the New York Artist Trio and Myrtle Moses will give a joint recital.

At night the Chautauqua Choral society of 300 voices will render the cantata, "The Legend of Nacoochee," the words of which were written by Mrs. Arthur Codington, the music by James R. Gillette.

Marshall at Athens.

Athens, Ga., March 19.—(Special.)—Under the auspices of the Red Cross society of Athens, which has grown to 700 members in three weeks, Vice President Thomas R. Marshall addressed a mass meeting here Sunday afternoon on the Red Cross work as a part of the duty of the American citizen. He was given a reception at noon and a luncheon at 1 o'clock, speaking at the Octagon, the new auditorium on the university campus, at 2:30 o'clock.

The vice president spoke broadly of the real American and of the highest form of American patriotism based upon duty to God and humanity, and operative through the general application individually and nationally of the "Golden Rule." He said America has been taught freedom by England and fraternity by France, and it is now the duty of America to learn and teach the world the great doctrine of equality.

A REAL TEST!

The Georgia general assembly is to convene in extraordinary session today, to legislate Georgia "bone-dry."

Its duty is clean-cut and plain.

There must be no pussy-footing—no side-stepping; there must be no evasion, such as marked and marred the work of the same legislature in dealing with this same question in a previous extra session, when in enacting prohibition legislation it left loopholes big enough for a camel to go through, and to correct which blunders the body has been called together again at an expense to the state of from twenty to twenty-five thousand dollars.

There must now be no more evasion, no equivocation, no dodging, no hedging, no straddling!

If it is possible to enact a law that will calk every crack, and shut out liquor as a beverage absolutely and entirely, then the sooner that fact is demonstrated the better it will be.

On the other hand, if this cannot be done by law—if the dike cannot be made liquor-proof by law—then the sooner that fact is made known the better it will be.

The legislature has a delicate piece of work ahead, and it must stand or fall by the action it takes.

We have a federal law prohibiting the shipment of liquor into states which prohibit the manufacture and sale of it, but recognizing the right of interstate shipment for sacramental, scientific, manufacturing and medicinal purposes—though it is claimed that even in these respects the federal law permits the state to take final action.

It is agreed that—as a measure of precaution, if for no other reason—any state law that is enacted should not conflict with the federal law.

But in dealing with those four exceptions it is possible for the legislature to enact such a law as would fairly open the floodgates to liquor from the outside!

Therefore, the test of the real efficacy of whatever law is enacted is going to be in the measure in which those four exceptions may be recognized, while at the same time guarding against the practical nullification of the law by the abuse of such provisions as may be made to meet federal limitations.

To preserve this balance is going to require some degree of finesse in legislation!

If the legislature fails—as it has once done—it will make of itself a national laughing-stock.

If it makes good, it will be entitled to credit accordingly.

Here is a chance for a real test! A test that will be watched with interest by the state and the nation!

Now let the legislature meet the measure of its opportunity, and its obligation—act promptly and adjourn!

A CAUSE FOR REJOICING!

The whole country is to be congratulated that the industrial war between the railroads and their employees has, through the good offices of wise counsel, been averted.

It forcibly illustrates the power of reason and calm deliberation, and, at the same time, the danger of wrong-doing in hot-headedness and hasty action.

Even in ordinary times, under normal conditions, it would be difficult to estimate the misery and distress—physical, political and moral—that would follow such a strike as was ordered. But coming at such a time of extraordinary conditions as this, with the American nation really in a state of war with a foreign power, the tying up of our rail lines would of necessity produce conditions bordering upon chaos.

It is gratifying in the extreme to know that both sides to the controversy, determined and embittered as they were against each other, were willing to listen to reason as the result of which the most threatening civil complication that has confronted this country for many years has, happily, been averted.

So long as men use brains and manifest a disposition to do right, each to the other as he is brought to see the right, wars and strikes and lockouts and industrial revolutions are unnecessary—which the settlement of the great railroad brotherhoods' strike proves.

Now let us hope, as undoubtedly will be the case, that the structure so satisfactorily begun will be completed, and that the differences betwen the railroads and the brotherhoods will be adjusted upon a basis that will be complete and that will make the pact lasting.

WAR IS INEVITABLE!

War between the United States and Germany is inevitable.

The events of Sunday—the sinking of three unarmed American ships, without warning, by Teutonic U-boats—means that the crisis has been reached!

Germany has written in bold letters across the face of the ocean its defiance to the United States government; and the sooner this country makes the only reply consistent with reason and honor and the demands of humanity the better it will be.

Unfortunately the government of the United States cannot act in this extremity without a reconvening of the congress, because, while a state of war theoretically and to all intents and purposes now exists, the president cannot actually declare war without the consent of congress.

Had it not been for the unpatriotic attitude of a baker's dozen of senators in the closing hours of the last session, the president would today be enabled to meet the issue promptly, because it was in anticipation of just such an eventuality that he went before congress and asked for the authority which, by disgraceful filibuster tactics, was denied him.

The administration has exercised extraordinary patience, and very properly so, with the German submarine situation from the first. But under existing conditions patience, further strained, would not be a virtue.

This final act of defiance upon Germany's part means that from this day on the United States must make common cause with the other nations engaged in this great worldwide fight for civilization and humanity!

The thing has resolved itself purely and simply into a struggle of humanity for supremacy over barbarianism.

It is a clean-cut issue between civilization and militaristic power, and in such a contest our path is clear.

In this great struggle the forces of civilization and humanity have got to stand together; and the closer the co-operation between those forces the more speedy will come the ultimate triumph, and the more decisive will be civilization's and humanity's victory in the greatest test the world has ever faced.

ON THE RIGHT LINE.

Goodman Anderson, of Hills, Minnesota, is working in the right way to solve the "problem"—which should be no problem at all—of keeping the home-people on the home-farm.

At least, he seems to have solved it for his immediate family by making it to their financial interests to "stick to the soil."

Mr. Anderson, a news story says, is one of the wealthiest residents of the state, and has just completed the details connected with the presentation of a highly improved farm to each of his eight children:

> Mr. Anderson had each farm appraised and then presented the deeds and abstracts to the children. The deeds showing the transfers have just been filed.

Besides, they were given sufficient cash to "start right," and out of debt. They don't have to wait for a will, but in part they come into their own now, while the parental benefactor has the pleasure of seeing them firmly established for the future.

No better way for keeping up interest in the farm could have been devised, the interest being personal from the start. It is like the Scriptural story of the distribution of the Ten Talents: The Minnesota man has given his children the right means for "making good," and doubtless there will be industrial rivalry among them to prove that his interest in their welfare was not greater than their appreciation of it.

Cash in bank as a start in life is both a blessing and a temptation to many; but cash invested, by wise forethought, in a foundation to build on, is an incentive to labor for that greater achievement which spells Success.

The Allies, it is reported, are willing to prolong the war, but a long time between meals becomes a weariness to the flesh.

Will B. Reddy, a strapping Missourian, has tendered his services to the country in the event of war. That's good as a prospect, but the man Uncle Sam needs right now is the Hon. I. B. Ready.

Just as predicted, the Villa people got busy again the minute they thought they heard a jingle in the national treasury.

The Czar of Russia is the latest to join a consolation club for kings.

It is to be hoped, now that humanity seems to be at the helm in Russia, that somebody in authority will remember those thousands of political and religious exiles in the Siberian mines.

If it's war, there's folks to lead 'em,— There'll be strength an'
courage true,
But the home-soil's got to
feed 'em,
So the Fight's
There
Too!

Whilst the armies are a-marchin'—
The fightin' ships in view,
You've got to take the home fields,—
Oh, the Fight's
There
Too!

For the harvest days are comin',
An' we'll not be pulling through
Till we win the fields of Plenty,—
For the Fight's
There
Too!

"What manner of decoction," asks The Columbia State, "would one quart of whisky poured into a gallon of strong blackberry wine or hard cider make?"

Another Battleground.

I.

You're a-fightin' man, I tell you,
Good as anyone could wish,
With a river's banks for breastworks
In a battle with the fish.
The trout—it's hard to land him
Where the singin' waters swish;
There's a cross that's worth the winnin'
In the battle with the fish.

II.

It's fight from start to finish,
But if wild war-trumpets blow,
The river-fightin' fellers
Are the very chaps to go;
An' whilst they're in new fightin'
In the thrillin' country's cause
The fish'll be a-growin'
To the size they said it was!

It never caused him pain,
He simply didn't eat it till

Complete Text of "Bone-Dry" Bill Proposed by Governor Nat E. Harris

The "bone dry bill" submitted by Governor Nat Harris to a conference of approximately 100 legislators Monday afternoon, and indorsed by them, and which will be introduced in both houses of the general assembly today, is as follows:

Text of the Bill.

A bill to be entitled an act to amend and supplement the prohibition laws of this state by making it unlawful to transport or to ship any spiritous, vinous, malted, fermented or other intoxicating liquors, or any of the liquors or beverages defined in Section 1 of the act approved November 17, 1915, being "An act to make clearer and more certain" the prohibition laws of this state, etc., from any point without this state to any point within this state; or from place to place within this state; or receive, have, possess or control any such specified liquors or beverages within this state, except pure alcohol for medicinal, mechanical and scientific purposes, and wines for sacramental purposes, under conditions prescribed; also by fixing the punishment for violations of this act; providing for additional costs on conviction of certain offenders against the state prohibition laws; prescribing rules of evidence; providing for a state commissioner of prohibition and prescribing his duties and compensation; repealing the acts approved November 18, 1915, and of August 19, 1916, and certain portions of the act approved November 17, 1915; and for other purposes.

KITCHEN ARITHMETIC.

Every housewife knows that an ounce of bread and butter is more nourishing than a pound of watermelon or a quart of cabbage, but there are many housewives who have yet to learn that a pound of macaroni baked with cheese is more nourishing than a pound of beef.

As a matter of economy and health everyone having the purchasing of food for a household in charge should study tables of food values given in Atwater and Bryant's "The Chemical Composition of American Food Materials," issued as Bulletin 28, by the United States department of agriculture, and obtainable by sending ten cents in coin to superintendent of documents, Washington, D. C.

Among the very nourishing, digestible and economical foods which are not as freely used as they would be if people understood the nutritive values of food materials, are peanuts, which are just twice as nourishing, pound for pound, as bread; corn meal; macaroni baked with cheese; dried peas and beans; oatmeal; oleomargarine; codfish, unpolished rice; beef scraps, flank, rump and round steak, and soup bone.

Among the more expensive, less nourishing articles are mutton chops, roast veal, canned soups, ready-to-serve breakfast cereals and butter. Oleomargarine is a wholesome, economical food which, when colored by the housewife, makes an ideal substitute for butter on the table.

It is perhaps too much to expect the average cook, untrained in domestic science, to take into consideration the caloric or food value of the various articles she puts on the bill of fare. With the governments's tables of food values on the shelf with her cook-book, however, she may exercise much good judgment in buying food and save a considerable outlay month by month.

It is wasteful, for instance, to boil potatoes, and get 97 calories from 100 grams, when the same potatoes baked will give 114 calories, to say nothing of the hygienic and nutritive value of the potato skins. Anemic, constipated persons need the skins.

It is a popular delusion that raw eggs are more nourishing or strengthening than cooked eggs. One hundred grams of raw eggs yield 159 calories, whereas 100 grams of cooked (boiled) eggs yield 169 calories, and taste better, too.

Write to the United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., and ask for a list of the farmers' bulletins. Then apply for free copies of the bulletins about foods you are interested in. A little arithmetic in the kitchen is worth while.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

What Acute Blood Poisoning Is.

I am sure there are many others like myself who would be gratified to learn precisely what blood poisoning is, how it is produced, and whether there are any signs or symptoms by which a lay person may recognize or intelligently suspect it. (H. I. W.)

ANSWER—Doctors call it septicemia. It is caused by infection by various kinds of germs, through a wound, burn, operation, or any inflammatory disease. It is never produced by dyed clothing, iron rust, verdegris, visible dirt or chemicals, but only by bacteria. Signs which warrant surgical attention immediately, are: Chilliness or an actual chill when one has a wound or slight injury or any open skin lesion which might give entrance to infection; feverishness; headache; general bone ache and other symptoms resembling so-called "grip;" sore kernels or lymph nodes in elbow or armpit, or if the infection is in the leg, behind knee or in groin; red streaks running up the limb; angry red flush around the lesion, increase in pain, sudden cessation of drainage from the wound. As a general rule, the best first aid would be prolonged soaking of the entire limb or part in the hottest water endurable, each pint of water having a heaping tablespoonful of salt dissolved in it, to favor re-established drainage from the wound.

CHATTANOOGA FIRM GIVEN $1,000 FINE

Diamond Supply Co. Enters Plea of Guilty to "Dry" Law Violation—Paul Heyman Is Held Guiltless.

The far-reaching tentacles of Solicitor General John A. Boykin's campaign against illegal liquor traffic reached beyond the state yesterday, when the Diamond Supply company, of Chattanooga, was fined $1,000 in superior court.

The company was indicted several weeks ago, and deputy sheriffs have long been in Chattanooga armed with extradition papers.

Representatives of the company suddenly appeared in the courthouse Monday afternoon before Judge Ben Hill, of the criminal division superior court, and upon the plea of guilty the company was fined $1,000 on a charge of violating the prohibition statutes.

Heyman Case Nolle Prossed.

Paul Heyman, prominent business man of Tennessee and Augusta, was exonerated of personal violation of the Georgia prohibition laws following a statement by Solicitor General Boykin, in which Judge Ben Hill concurred, when all indictments against him were nolle prossed. This action was taken after a statement to the court by his attorney, Leonard J. Grossman, who entered a plea of guilty in a case against the Diamond Supply company, indicted as a corporation, in which Mr. Heyman is a controlling factor.

Attorney Grossman took occasion to explain that he had nothing to say concerning the merits of the liquor traffic, but that he wished to call to the attention of the court the good faith of the defendants.

He told the court that on March 17 Sheriff Lowry's office mailed to Augusta a bench warrant for the arrest of the defendants, and inclosed a letter to Sheriff Plunkett with instructions to detain them. But instead of the mail reaching Augusta's sheriff it was, through some clerical error, addressed "Hon Paul Heyman, Sheriff, Augusta." The mail, including the warrant, was consequently left at the Plaza hotel, of which the Heyman Brothers are part owners, and one of them happening in at the time opened the letter, receiving a warrant for his own arrest from the sheriff of Fulton county. Catching the midnight train out of Augusta, he was in court to enter the appropriate plea in good faith.

Did Not Question Orders.

This mail order house, said Mr. Grossman, has not employed detectives in distant cities to ascertain the legitimacy of every addressee and have taken it for granted the orders were legitimate. Rather than quibble over technicalities, however, and await their arrest, Mr. Grossman stated his clients were in court of their own motion ready to plead guilty in the name of the Diamond Supply company, which concern has shipped the goods in good faith. He asked that Judge Hill be lenient. A fine of $1,000 was imposed, in one case, with the explanation from the court that the fine controlled the line of cases pending against the Diamond Supply company, the court concurring in the motion that all cases against Paul Heyman be nolle prossed. The fine was paid.

This case makes the second against officials of outside liquor concerns. Walter Henning, head of the Supply company, another Chattanooga firm, was extradited last week, and will be arraigned before Judge Ben Hill. He was brought back Saturday and held under heavy bond.

It is said that additional indictments exist against liquor concerns out of the state for alleged illegal liquor trafficking, such as the shipping of unlawful quantities to "blind tigers" under fictitious names, and of stub manipulations. Solicitor Boykin, however, will not discuss the report of other indictments.

THOMAS AWARDS FEES IN RAIL LITIGATION

Valdosta, Ga., March 19.—(Special.)—Judge W. E. Thomas, of the southern circuit, has passed an order awarding fees in the Valdosta, Moultrie and Western railroad litigation, which was ended with the sale of the road a few weeks ago. D. C. Ashley, A. S. Pendleton, A. L. Davis and A. T. Woodward, commissioners, to sell the road were allowed $2,000 each. Dennark & Griffin, attorneys for the receivers, were awarded a fee of $1,500. Whitaker & Dukes and Branch & Snow, attorneys for the defendant railroad, were allowed $500 fees. The Valdosta Bank and Trust company, trustee for the railroad, was awarded $500.

The road is now being operated by its owner, B. P. Jones, who paid $300,000 for it at receivers' sale.

"Fair and Warmer."

At the Atlanta.

"Fair and Warmer" opened a three-day return engagement last night at the Atlanta with every seat in the house sold and the S. R. O. sign occupying a conspicuous space in the lobby. And after having played four performances in this city "Fair and Warmer" proved just as big a hit with the audience last night as it did back in January when it first arrived in town.

"Fair and Warmer" is a cleverly written comedy, chock full of laughs and clever lines. The cast that is playing the Atlanta theater could hardly be improved on and they handle their lines as though Avery Hopwood had each and every one of them in mind when he wrote the play.

"Fair and Warmer" is a good prescription for the worst case of blues in Atlanta. The man or woman who can sit through the performance and not leave trouble and worry behind many miles would have to be stone blind, absolutely deaf and devoid of all sense of humor.

The only change in the cast from the one that played Atlanta in January is the substitution of Dorothy Mackaye for Edna Hibbard, as "Blanney." If anything this change strengthens the show, for Miss Mackaye is as clever a little actress as ever smiled across the footlights at an Atlanta audience. She makes an excellent leading lady for Sager Midgley, who ranks 100 per cent efficient in the role of Billy Bartlett. Midgley possesses the happy faculty of making an audience laugh till its sides ache, and in "Fair and Warmer" he has an excellent opportunity to display his ability.

The entire cast is excellent, with everyone deserving a special paragraph of praise. Even Miriam Masters, who, as the maid, Tessie, is on the stage for only a few moments at a time, played her part with a dash and vim that is refreshing.

"Fair and Warmer" will play here three more performances, tonight, tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night. Manager Homer George displayed great wisdom in booking this comedy for a return engagement for it is extremely doubtful if there will be a vacant seat at any perormance.

"Fair and Warmer" is well worth seeing. Even if one has seen it already it will bear seeing again, for it is easily the funniest show that has played the Atlanta theater this season.

Confidentially we don't mind in the least recommending it to anyone who likes clean, clever comedy.

QUIMBY MELTON.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

A melodrama of the good old-fashioned kind is on at the Forsyth!

The Forsyth management was wise in the bill they have put on this week, for, after the taste for a good play which theater players got in Otis Skinner's engagement here last week, and the program of good movies on last night, vaudeville had to present some very good stunts, and vaudeville did.

The melodrama, entitled "A Forest Fire," was presented by a cast of talented men and women and a little boy with a man's talent. The plot, a familiar theme, touched deep the human sympathies, and there were thrills of the quiet kind as well as those calling forth applause for the bravery of a man, the heroism of a woman and the fearlessness of a small boy—and all in the midst of that most dreadful of calamities to the villiage in the valley, when a forest fire comes on. There was the technique students of plays demand, and action—plenty of it—and scenic effects, beautiful, spectacular and realistic.

The play was written and arranged by Langdon McCormick, and the players are the Sylvia Bidwell company, the cast as follows:

The test of good vaudeville is the response of the audience, not what real or would-be critics say about it. A favorite idiom of the French is: "Chacun a son gout," which means literally "everybody to his taste." The taste may be for athletic feats, for ragtime music, for clog dancing, or for the program of the monologist. What one person laughs at bores another; what one person fails to appreciate delights another. The Forsyth program last night gave everybody a chance, including the "movie fans" present who had movies to start with to finish, and varied stunts in between.

To satisfy those who enjoy the athletic accomplishment, there was Dufty and Daisy. Dufty, though he behaved "bug house," was a good athlete and bicyclist, and Daisy, wearing Rhinastone bandeau on her prettily, undulated hair and a green silk sweater, did some wonderful things. She donned a black spangled tulle skirt to turn twenty Arabian somersaults in, all in twenty seconds.

Tommy Keer and Steffy Derko did their stunt with violins, and though it may seem a desecration to use the same kind of instrument which is immortalizing Ysaye in the world of music, to interpret a bowery flirtation, these two young wage-earners of the stage did it, and convulsed their audience with delight.

Leo Beers, at the piano, which he approached whistling and whistling well, played some very tuneful tunes that inspired one to hum as he played, and to reach the floor now and then with a foot. The kind of stories he told with musical accompaniment, recalled the story of the girl in the fashionable town school who, when she was chided for being risque, remarked, "Well, girls, I do pull rough stuff some times, but I am never common, I know."

The Dugan & Raymond Co., composed of two people in a play of their own making, were funny—the play showing the human qualities of a cheap automobile which in its versatility advertised one of the most famous automobile factories in the world.

Britt Wood, the juvenile jester, was good, and appealed in his songs and nonsense to old and young in the audience. They applauded him vigorously and would have kept on if they had not been caught by the "Forest Fire," which came next.

Loew's Vaudeville.

(At the Grand.)

Costume changes galore, songs that please, some comedy and considerable good looks feature the "Merry Maids of Japan," the headline offering of Loew's vaudeville bill at the Grand theater this week.

The company consists of six chorus girls, one leading lady, two comedians, one sailor officer, and another girl who apparently is not of the chorus, nor is she leading lady.

And yet it is of this girl that it is easiest to write, for she has looks, voice and stage appearance that make her an asset of unusual value to this organization of players. Her name should certainly be available for the information of the public and for the guidance of the critic.

The costumes are bright and clean, and the girls are of uniform heighth and possess pulchritude of face in fair degree. The act moves with a snap that is a most desirable feature in musical comedy.

Next in interest to the big act is the appearance of two young men, Kane and Hermann, billed as late of "The Midnight Sons." This musical play has long since been forgotten, but seems to have left behind at least two very talented members.

They present a "drunk" scene which will probably be a novelty in Atlanta in the near future as the result of "bone-dryness" becomes evident. At present, however, many in the audience are familiar with the type, and give the performers credit for their efforts. It is a comedy number throughout, and the lines are such as to draw laughter from every part of the house.

Vera de Bassini is a singer of merit, but if she was dumb there would be those in the audience to whom she would appeal. Monday afternoon it was soon apparent that she was the class of the bill in looks, unless the aforesaid "Merry Maid of Japan" be given the shade. Anyway, it looked a toss-up.

However, she does not work very hard for her living, though what she does was appreciated. First she sings a little Italian song, follows this up with "Coming Through the Rye," and ends with a violin imitation. The last proved best.

There is a sketch entitled "The Master Move," and it is one of the five numbers on the bill. That is about all.

The performance is opened with a juggling act of average value.

ROBERT MORAN.

"Civilization."

(At the Rialto.)

Peace, wonderful peace! Such is the appeal of "Civilization," the spectacular, yet thoughtful picture produced by Thomas H. Ince, and being shown this week at the Rialto theater. The great feature of the picture is the splendid conception of the Spirit of the Christ, whose radiant figure comes upon the scene every now and then, and the appeal for a more honest reception of His teachings and for perpetual peace.

The production opens with several explanatory remarks, and a quotation from a noted educator to the effect that "Civilization, after nineteen centuries, has failed honestly to accept the teachings of Christ." The narrative has for its opening scenes the quiet harvest fields in the time of peace, where happy men and women labor and rejoice and little children sport in joyful playfulness. From this the scene shifts to the national parliament, where dignitaries of the state, who feel themselves and their country insulted by a certain alleged foe, debate the question as to whether they should decide upon war or not. Among them is Rolf, a peace advocate and a friend to humanity, and who has a far-reaching perspective. He fights the enthusiasm for war which carries the others off their feet, and, as a result he is scorned, hissed, struck with various articles and derided. Still he remains true to his conviction that "Perhaps we have been wronged, but the wrong never existed that can be righted by the shedding of human blood."

From this the scenes shift to those of war, following the declaration of war by the unsympathetic and militaristic, as well as the cold-blooded king, after he has been given the authority by parliament. Terrible is the realism of these scenes of warfare. Then there is the romance. Count Ferdinand, inventor of a marvelous submarine, calculated to do untold harm, is in love with a girl who is opposed to war. Despite the fact that the king has promised much to Ferdinand and has made him head of the submarine fleet, the girl persuades him, by showing him how the mothers of men are affected by war, to give up his part in the war. When he is ordered, while aboard his submarine later, to blow up a certain ship bearing ammunition to the foe, as well as passengers, he, following a revelation by means of a dream, in which he sees the inevitable effects of the blow-up, he determines not to obey the orders of the king, and gives up his life by sinking the submarine when those aboard attempt to overcome him.

His body is rescued, and he is taken to the palace of the king, where, by the marvels of scientific apparatus, he is apparently restored to life, but it is really the Christus, an advocate of peace, who returns to earth. From this the story goes on to show the king, following his sentencing of Count Ferdinand to death for his so-called "treason," and the death of Ferdinand, affected by a vision of the Christ and a revelation of the horrors for which he is responsible, through this he is redeemed and finally puts a stop to the war.

Mr. Ince dedicates his picture "to that vast, pitiful army whose tears have girdled the globe—the mothers of men."

Virginia Pearson.

(At the Odeon.)

A dramatic story of a woman's struggle for happiness is "A Tortured Heart," which is the attraction at the Odeon theater today with Virginia Pearson playing the leading role. This southern beauty of filmland has in "The Tortured Heart" just the part which fits her beauty and dramatic acting, for the tale unfolded is filled with all the wholesomeness of the southland. As the blackmailing villian of the story Stuart Holmes is found and he is known as the most successful villian of the screen, picture patrons can depend upon the part being played as it should be. All of the out-of-door scenes were taken at Savannah, Ga., in order to secure the true atmosphere, the whole company being located there for some time. Bessie Love comes Wednesday in "A Daughter of the Poor."

BOBBY AND PERRY MANAGED TO MISS TRAIN WITH EASE

Pinehurst, N. C., March 19.—(Special.) For some unaccountable reason, the train for the south pulled out of Pinehurst on time last night, and Bobby Jones and Perry Adair managed to miss it and get out of a school day at Atlanta. They tackled the No. 3 course today for the first time in company with Irving H. Robeson, of Rochester, and Paul Gardner, of Chicago, and lost by 2 and 1, largely by reason of their lack of acquaintance with the peculiarly desceptive and irritating topography of this most difficult of the Pinehurst courses.

Paul Gardner played the best golf of the quartet, going out in par 35, and coming in in 39 for a 74, but he was ably supported by Robeson, who made threes on four holes in succession, going out, including birdses on two of the four holes.

This was Robeson's day, all around, for in addition to being on the winning side against Jones and Adair, he won the first prize in the tin whistles select holes tourney, against a field of over 50, tied with Parker Whitmore, of Brookline, won the prize for first, the best gross round of that contest, with a 77 on course one, and achieved the unique feat of making the par four first hole, on the number one course, in two.

MERGENTHALER LOSES SUIT OVER PATENT

Washington, March 19.—Dismissal by New York federal courts of linotype patent infringement suits brought by the Mergenthaler company against the Intertype corporation and International Typesetting Machine company, of New York, was, in effect, upheld today by the supreme court.

That the linotype multiple-magazine, slug and mold patents of the Intertype and International Typesetting companies do not infringe Mergenthaler patents was held by the lower courts, which decision now becomes effective.

POLICE KEPT BUSY PROBING ROBBERIES

Piedmont, Ala., Man Reports That He Lost $250 Pin at Terminal Station.

Police and city detectives were busy last night on a series of robberies that broke out in the city.

They were looking for three white men who are operating in the neighborhood of the Terminal station. Dr. F. B. Tigner, of Piedmont, Ala., telephoned Night Chief Jett that three white men had jostled and pushed him at the ticket sellers' window when he attempted to buy transportation for the 4:30 train for Jacksonville, Fla., and that they stole his $250 diamond stickpin from his tie.

Two negro highwaymen entered the store of Joe Friedberg at 111 Chapel street about 7:30 o'clock and, at the point of a pistol, robbed him of $20, which was in his cash drawer. The robbers were about to proceed to get his personal jewelry and effects when his wife, who had been sewing in their home directly in the rear of Joe's store, rushed in to his rescue.

Call Officers Jim Palmer and "Vic" Young investigated the robbery.

Mrs. Kooner, of 91 Josephine street, reported that a burglar had entered her home during Monday afternoon and stolen $8 and her pocketbook and her gold locket and chain.

Another thief attempted to burglarize a house at No. 5 Scott street, when the occupants frightened him off before Call Officers Jack Malcolm and George Holley could arrive on the scene.

THIS WOMAN HAD TO BE LIFTED FROM TRAIN TO CARRIAGE

But, After Taking Tanlac, Mrs. McFather Can Now Walk for Miles Without Tiring—Gained 15 Pounds.

"When my mother, who is sixty-four years old, came to my home thirty days ago, she was so weak I had to carry her in my arms from the train to the carriage, but she can now walk two miles without getting tired and this Tanlac has been worth all of one hundred dollars a bottle to her," was the remarkable statement made by A. L. McFather, a well-known farmer living on R. F. D., No. 4, Mount Calm, Texas, recently.

"For more than fourteen years," he continued, "mother suffered from stomach trouble, and during all that time she had to live on the very lightest things she could get. She couldn't even drink sweet milk or eat meat of any kind, and the flimsy things she did eat often caused her terrible suffering. She was badly constipated and was all the time taking something for that trouble. She was tired all the time, the least exercise would wear her completely out, and all during the day she had to lay down and rest. She suffered agony with pains in her sides and was so nervous and miserable she could hardly sleep at all. She took all kinds of medicines for years, but she kept losing weight and getting worse all the time.

"I was alarmed about her when I met her at the train and found her so feeble. I had read and heard so much about Tanlac I decided for her to try it and the day she took her first dose she weighed only ninety-six pounds and was almost as weak as a kitten. Well, Tanlac has simply made a new woman of her. She now weighs one hundred and eleven pounds and has actually gained fifteen pounds in the last thirty days. Some folks may doubt it, but it's the plain truth, she can walk two miles without getting tired. I have never seen or heard of anything to equal Tanlac. Mother can eat anything she wants now and as much as she pleases without the least trouble afterwards and she sleeps as sound as a healthy baby every night. She is not the least bit constipated now and her nerves are as calm as a lamb. The pains have entirely left her sides and her strength and vitality is remarkable. Tanlac has restored her health in every way and I want everybody to know what it is that has relieved her of all those years of suffering and made a well woman of her."

Tanlac is sold in Atlanta exclusively by Jacobs' Pharmacy.—(adv.)

Want Pink Cheeks—Red Lips?

Some unfortunate men and women are prone to wonder why some of their friends are blessed with an abundance of color—pink cheeks and red lips—while theirs are always colorless. The reason for this last named condition is—there is not enough red blood corpuscles in the blood—under a microscope the blood is thin and watery. The flesh is flabby too. Well known physicians assert that the regular administration for several months, of three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets will greatly improve the color, add to the weight, make the cheeks pink and the lips red and in general be very beneficial. For self-administration, obtain from any of the best apothecary shops.—(adv.)

NEW BRIDGE OPEN SOON.

Rushing Work on Piedmont Park-Boulevard Bridge.

The Piedmont park-Boulevard bridge, now under construction in Piedmont park, will be opened for traffic by the middle of April, provided the weather between now and then does not interfere with the work. This announcement was made Monday afternoon by H. E. Kauffman, superintendent of bridges in the city construction department. The bridge proper has been completed and the only work remaining to be done is the laying of pavement on the approaches to the bridge.

When completed the bridge will cost approximately $29,000. Of this the city paid $5,000, the remainder being paid by the Southern Railway and the North Boulevard Park company. The bridge is 625 feet long, the main arch of 73 feet, being over a small stream. A series of terraces have been graded around the approach of the bridge that will be planted with green and shrubbery, making this one of the show spots of Piedmont park.

Monday afternoon Mr. Kauffman submitted an inventory of the value of the city's bridges to city council. The value is set at $1,023,623.30. The most expensive are the Forsyth street and the Washington street bridges.

Mr. Kauffman, on Monday afternoon, also reported to council that satisfactory progress is being made on the Edgewood avenue bridge, and the South Pryor street underpass.

POSTMASTER JONES LEADS RECRUITING FOR REGULAR ARMY

Washington, March 19.—Postmaster Bolling H. Jones, of Atlanta, led all postmasters in the United States during February in recruiting men for the regular army, with a total of 94 new soldiers brought into the service.

War department reports today showed that a total of 863 recruits have been obtained by postmasters, as provided in the national defense act, since instructions were issued.

At this meeting, or subsequently, the committee will also hear suggestions and complaints relating to the general administration and affairs of the court. The committee is composed of W. A. Fuller, chairman; Philip H. Alston and Robert B. Troutman.

FORT VALLEY BAPTISTS LIBERAL IN DONATIONS

Fort Valley, Ga., March 19.—(Special.) The people of this section of the state are readily responding to the call of the Baptist institutions for funds to pay off all their indebtedness.

Dr. J. R. Kinney, president of the Kinney Loan and Investment company, is the divisional director of this district and is very much encouraged over the results to date.

Marshallville, which is in the district under the supervision of Dr. Kinney, surprised all concerned by her more than liberal contributions. The Baptists of that place have just finished the construction of a new $20,000 church, all which has been paid and one of its members leads the list with a contribution of $1,000.

Fort Valley Baptists have far exceeded their apportionment, one citizen leading the list with $1,250.

HIGH STUDENTS ARE PREPARING FOR MEET

Fort Valley, March 19.—(Special.)—The students of the high school of this place are preparing for the high school meet of this district which is to be held in McRae during the early part of next month.

The meeting of the high schools of this district met at this place last year and Fort Valley was ably represented in all of the athletic and literary events.

The representatives in athletics will be Maxwell Murray, Hugh Hartley, Arthur Vinson, Ivan Cwrat and Mercer Murray. The representatives in recitation, declamation and essay writing will be chosen on Friday. The representatives in spelling for the boys will be Houser Davidson, while the representative of the girls will be Fannie Avera.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR HORSE RACING EVENTS

Valosta, Ga., March 19.—(Special.)—Arrangements have just been perfected by General Manager J. M. Ashley, of the Georgia-Florida fair, for the finest horse racing at the fair during the coming fall that this section has ever had. Manager Ashley met the secretaries of the Rome and Cartersville fairs in Atlanta, where a racing circuit, composed of Rome, Cartersville and Valdosta, was formed.

Each of the fairs will offer purses of $3,600, or nearly $11,000 for the circuit, covering four days' races in each city. It is believed this sum will secure a better class of horses than have heretofore appeared at Georgia fairs. It is stated that already a number of leading horsemen have expressed their intention of entering their horses.

High Cost of Living Due, Says Council, To Food Speculation

Resolutions Passed Calling Upon America's Leaders, From President to Georgia Legislature, to Stop the Practice.

Council went on record yesterday as holding that the high cost of living is due entirely to the machinations of food speculators, when it passed a resolution to that effect by Councilman Johnson calling the matter to the attention of America's rulers, from the president of the United States down to the members of the Georgia legislature, and urging them to take steps to stop food speculation.

A resolution was introduced by Alderman Barnes to close the streets and sidewalks of Atlanta to street venders and fakirs of all kinds by instructing the city clerk not to issue any more licenses. The resolution does not affect the already licensed newsstands, but would eliminate patent medicine men and novelty venders. It was referred to the ordinance committee.

Another resolution of Alderman Barnes, which was adopted, authorized the Red Men to hold a street carnival on April 9 for the purpose of sending their drum corps to Washington to attend the Confederate reunion.

A resolution was passed authorizing the sale of a lot of land on McDaniel street to the Mt. Zion church, colored, for the sum of $500.

All the favorable reports of committees were passed up in routine fashion, including the various street improvements recommended last Friday by the street committee, the resolution providing for the removal of the pesthouse and the advertising for sale of the premises now used on the stockade property, and the meat inspection ordinance drawn by the city board of health and adopting in its main provisions the inspection features of the federal law.

While this latter ordinance does not greatly change the present city regulations in regard to meat inspection, it codifies them into a single ordinance, thereby making them much more intelligible.

MACHINISTS STRIKE IN MACON SHOPS; MANY CLOSE DOORS

Macon, Ga., March 19.—(Special.)—The trouble between the local machinists and their employers has not been adjusted, and today several of the machine shops of the city are closed. This morning when the Macon Auto company refused to sign the contract presented by the employees the machinists employed there walked out. Announcement was made later by the company that in the future an "open shop" would be maintained and employment would be given to both union and non-union men.

The Taylor Iron Works closed their plant Saturday night and did not open at all this morning. At the office of the company it was stated the plant would remain closed until the trouble was adjusted.

Other automobile garages and industrial plants which employ machinists were open today and the men were still at work, but it was understood there would be further walkouts within the next few hours. About 100 machinists are involved in the demands on the employers.

The railroad machinists are not affected.

SPECIAL MASTER NAMED FOR AMERICUS BANK

Macon, Ga., March 19.—(Special.)—Augustin Daly, former city recorder and judge of the municipal court, has been appointed special master by Judge Emory Speer, of the United States district court, in the case of the receiver of the Americus National bank, of Americus, against the stockholders of that institution. The case was referred to the special master at the suggestion of counsel for both sides.

The Americus National bank closed its doors about two years ago. Mathew M. Lowrey, the cashier, was found guilty of misapplication of the bank's funds and his assistant is said to have absconded. Lowrey was sentenced to serve five years in the penitentiary. A motion for a new trial was pending at the time the late Judge Lambdin died.

The suit now in the courts is to recover $300,000 from the stockholders for the benefit of the creditors and depositors. The receiver claims the affairs of the bank were mismanaged.

ANDY KING WORKING ON THE WURM CASE

Ex-Chairman and Sergeant Bullard Promise Interesting Developments Soon.

That he possesses valuable information likely to solve the Wurm murder mystery is the claim made by Andy King, former chairman of the police commission, who worked on the murder mystery for many months with city detectives.

The re-arrest a few days ago of Vastar Dogan, the negro suspect held for one month after the crime had been discovered, was a result of the activities of ex-Chairman King, the detectives say. Mr. King states he has secured a confession from a white man to the effect that he had held a conversation with another white man, who had told him that the negro had said he had encountered the murderers of young Wurm at the Atlantic Steel plant, and that he had been forced by them to help carry Wurm's body to the Chattahoochee river, where it was found about one week later by a negro boatman.

Dogan has been under surveillance by order of ex-Chairman King for several months, but recently got away to South Carolina, and thence to Birmingham, from which place he was recently returned by Sergeant George Bullard, of the Atlanta police force, on a warrant charging stealing from the White Provision company, where Dogan had worked since the Wurm murder.

Dogan denies any knowledge of the crime, just as he did when he was incarcerated shortly after the unearthing of the Wurm murder.

Sergeant Bullard and ex-Chairman King promise sensational developments in the next few days.

FOLEY BELIEVED DYING IN MACON HOSPITAL

Macon, Ga., March 19.—(Special.)—Thomas Foley, the former member of battery B, field artillery, whose home is said to be in Atlanta, is still unconscious at the Macon hospital, where he was taken late last night after being picked up at Second and Hazel streets.

Foley is hought to have either been knocked from a freight train or to have fallen from it. He is suffering from a blow on the head and the physicians at the hospital think his skull is fractured. It is believed his death is only a matter of hours.

Efforts to communicate with the young man's family in Atlanta have been without result.

FIRST NATIONAL BUYS BANK AT ELBERTON

Elberton, Ga., March 19.—(Special.)—This afternoon the First National bank closed a deal whereby it absorbs the Citizens' bank, with $25,000 capital and $37,500 surplus.

The First National will not increase its capital. This addition to its assets gives it a working capital of over $500,000.

The late L. M. Heard was president of the Citizens' bank.

Cuticura Healed Scalp Trouble

In three years with crust like bran. Itching burning prevented sleep. Hair fell out. Tried other remedies with no relief. After using one cake Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment was perfectly healed.

From signed statement of Mrs. L. G. Reed, R. F. D. 3, Box 65, Gilmer, Texas. Aug. 29, 1916.

It is so easy to prevent skin and scalp troubles by using Cuticura Soap, and no other, for all toilet purposes, assisted now and then by touches of Cuticura Ointment to first signs of pimples, rashes, dandruff or irritation. Bathe with Cuticura Soap and hot water, dry lightly and apply Cuticura Ointment. At once the itching ceases, sleep and rest follow, and complete healment in most cases results in continued use of these fragrant super-creamy emollients. Do not confound them with coarsely medicated soaps and ointments.

WIRE BARRICADE WILL KEEP GERMANS AT FORT

Seventeenth Regiment Left El Paso Last Night Bound for Georgia.

Preparations will today be put under way to throw an immense barbed wire barricade around Fort McPherson for the purpose of detaining the 400 interned Germans to be brought to Atlanta from Philadelphia the latter part of the week.

Although the commanding staff at the fort has not yet received official instructions, it was stated last night that work to prepare for the prisoners will begin this morning. Virtually all the city's supply of barbed wire will be exhausted to furnish the miles and miles of entanglement which will convert the fort into a prison-amphitheater.

Major G. H. Winston, the commanding officer, was busy in the quartermaster's office until a late hour last night consulting with members of his staff. A survey has been made of the fort grounds, but it is not known how much wire will be required for the barricade.

Associated Press dispatches last night stated that while it was probable the entire trip from Philadelphia to Dixie would be made by rail, the suggestion to tow the interned ships to Savannah, then transport the interned crews inland by railroad, had been considered.

The interned crews will be brought to Georgia under the custody of American marines, and will be turned over to the Seventeenth infantry, which, last night, left El Paso for the home station after more than three years' of service on the Mexican border.

In ancient times the hilly ranges of Lebanon, in Palestine, were frequented by leopards. Even now they sometimes appear in and about Lebanon; also the cheetah, which is tamed by the Mohammedans of Syria, who employ it in hunting the gazelle.

Don't Blame "Spring Fever" For That "Down-and-out" Feeling

Your blood needs a thorough cleansing just now.

As Spring approaches, the impurities that have been accumulating in the system throughout the winter begin to clog up the circulation, causing a general weakness and debilitated condition that is generally known as "Spring fever."

The first symptoms are usually a loss of appetite, followed by a gradually lessening of energy, the system becomes weaker day by day, until you feel yourself on the verge of a breakdown. Children just at this season are peevish and irritable, and become puny and lifeless.

This whole condition is but the result of impurities in the blood that have been accumulating and make themselves felt more distinctly with the change of seasons. They show that nature needs assistance in giving the system a general housecleaning.

Everybody just now needs a few bottles of S. S. S., the great vegetable blood remedy, to purify their blood and cleanse it of impurities. It is good for the children, for it gives them new strength and puts their system in condition so they can more easily resist the many ailments so prevalent in summer. S. S. S. is without an equal as a general tonic and system builder. It improves the appetite and gives new strength and vitality to both old and young.

I Gained 27 Pounds

I am pleased to express my opinion toward you for what Tonoline has done for me. Everyone was saying that I was going into consumption and I thought I would try a box of Tonoline which I saw advertised, and therefore commenced taking it according to directions. When I first took the treatment I weighed about 125 pounds and I have now gained so that I weigh 147 pounds. I cannot go up and down the streets now without everyone saying "What are you doing with yourself? You are so big and fat." Of course I laugh and say nothing, but will say to you that Tonoline is just what it is recommended to be and it will make a new person of anyone who is run down and under weight. I would not make oath to this if it were not true.

George Deshore, Woonsocket, R. I.

BEAUTY FOR WOMEN

Tonoline seems to produce a most remarkable effect in quickly and permanently rounding out the feminine form divine. It does not develop one portion of the figure at the expense of another, but in perfect harmony, the face should fill out to the perfect oval, the neck and bust become firm and plump, the arms round out to graceful proportions, and the limps take on the curves which alone are the signs of beauty. No flesh food to be laboriously rubbed upon the body, no mechanical appliances, none of the tricks and devices of the beauty doctor or masseuse can compare with that perfect development which comes from the harmonious working of the organs of assimilation and digestion.

No longer the need of hiding the shortcomings of the figure with padding, ruffles, long sleeves and high collars.

Tonoline will work this miracle for any imperfectly developed woman or money back. Besides that, one will feel so much better, will be so much more cheerful and happy in every way. Gloomy forebodings will give place to real, actual happiness.

DENIES INNES' PETITION FOR WRIT OF CERTIORARI

Supreme Court Outlines Policy in Appeals From the Apellate Court.

In handing down decisions in five cases Monday the Georgia supreme court outlined its policy in passing upon applications for appeal of cases from the court of appeals to the supreme court.

One of the cases in which a decision was handed down was that of the petition of Victor Innes for a writ of certiorari, by which his case could be appealed from the court of appeals to the supreme court. The petition was denied, thus leaving Innes, apparently, without further recourse.

Innes was convicted of larceny after trust in Fulton superior court, in connection with the disappearance of the Nelms sisters, and was sentenced to seven years. He appealed to the court of appeals, where the judgment of the lower court was affirmed. The certiorari was then sought from the supreme court and denied by it.

Supreme Court Policy.

The policy of the supreme court in passing upon applications for appeal from the court of appeals is outlined in the following headnotes:

"Under the constitutional amendment of 1916 the power of the supreme court in certiorari extends to all cases decided by the court of appeals.

"In the light of the constitutional history of the origin and purpose of the creation of the court of appeals and the amendment to the constitution adopted in 1916 defining the jurisdiction of the supreme court and of the court of appeals, and giving to the former court power by certiorari or otherwise to review the decisions of the latter court, this power should not be so carelessly exercised as to have the effect of prolonging litigation by converting the court of appeals into an intermediate court, or as to burden the docket of this court with cases intended by the constitution, under ordinary circumstances, to be reviewed by the court of appeals and to be controlled by the judgment of that court.

"Accordingly great caution will be exercised and the writ issued only in cases involving questions of great public concern and in matters or gravity and importance."

In the five decisions handed down Monday the supreme court granted two writs and denied three.

A writ was granted in the case of the Central of Georgia railway against Joseph Yesbik, who had alleged damages to have been sustained upon a shipment from Mobile to Albany. The city court of Albany sustained a motion of the railroad to dismiss the case, and the court of appeals reversed the lower court, and the case is now allowed to go to the supreme court.

This Called Proper Case.

The supreme court cites this as a proper case upon which to issue a writ of certiorari and says:

"A proper case for the grant of the writ is presented where the question involved is the effect of the act of congress, known as the Carmack amendment to the Hepburn act, on a state statute giving a cause of action against the last of several connecting carriers for damage to goods transported, where the initial carrier received the goods as in good order, as applied to an interstate shipment of freight."

The other case in which the writ was granted is that of the Travelers' Insurance company vs. Mrs. H. D. Newsome, involving the collection of a life insurance policy on the life of H. D. Newsome, who was killed by a negro on a street in Atlanta some months ago.

Besides in the Innes case, writs were refused Monday in the following cases:

American Sewer Pipe company vs. A. J. Mathews, originating in the Bibb superior court.

Charles P. Bailey vs. Ware & Harper, originating in the municipal court of Atlanta and involving a judgment for $250 against Bailey.

GEORGIA COMPANIES INJURED BY RATES, CLAIM SHIPPERS

At the Monday session of the rate hearing before the state railroad commission the Georgia Shippers' association placed witnesses on the stand attacking both the present and the proposed intrastate commodity rates on agricultural implements.

Witnesses testifying in this regard were Clyde King, of the Atlanta Plow company, and Harry T. Moore, of the Atlanta Freight bureau, both of whom took the position that the intrastate rates in Georgia are discriminatory in favor of out-of-Georgia concerns competing with Georgia implement manufacturers in Georgia territory. It was alleged that the carriers, in their rates, do not pay proper regard to distances.

Eugene M. Hudson, vice president of the McCord-Stewart company, wholesale grocers, was of the opinion that the proposed changes in the Georgia rates on canned goods would not affect the business of his concern one way or another.

In discussing the work of the girls' canning clubs of Georgia, he declared that he believed it possible to develop this work to the point where the entire state could be supplied from within its own bounds.

WARMER WEATHER PROMISED TODAY BY WEATHER MAN

Warmer weather, probably growing cloudy in the course of the day, was the prediction made by the forecaster yesterday for Tuesday.

The minimum temperature Monday was 30 degrees, 2 degrees below freezing, but owing to the fact that there was a high wind and consequently little or no frost, the weather man did not think that serious damage would result to the fruit crop.

Very little precipitation of rain was reported yesterday, except in the lake region and on the north Pacific coast, and rain is not expected in Atlanta for several days, although partial cloudiness may prevail in this region.

John Austin Lindner And His Bride Spend Monday in This City

John Austin Lindner, head of the Lindner Motor Sales corporation, of Alabama and Georgia, passed through the city Monday on his way to his Birmingham home, with his bride, who was Miss Beula Maun Smith, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Smith, of Oakville, Pa.

The couple were married at Oakville on Saturday, the 17th, and will be at home to their friends in Birmingham after April 15.

Mr. Lindner is one of the conspicuous figures in the auto world of the south, his company having just opened a Georgia agency in this city for the distribution of the Apperson car. While in the city Mr. Lindner paid a short visit to Bryan Newkirk, the Georgia branch manager.

FLAGMAN TO SURVIVE SHOOTING BY NEGRO

Waycross, Ga., March 19.—(Special.) Unless complications set in it is believed that J. L. Singletary, the Atlantic Coast Line flagman shot Saturday night by a negro hobo near Haylow, southwest of here, will recover. Tonight he was apparently holding his own, though it will be several days before he is out of danger.

Conductor Mark Parker, who received severe scalp wounds at the hands of the negro, has gone to his home at Thomasville. As far as was known here tonight, the negro being sought for the attack on the trainmen was still at large.

"Lucky Strike" Is New Toasted Cigarette Here

Crew of Fifteen Expert Salesmen to Put on Vigorous Campaign for Week or Ten Days on New Cigarette.

There's a new cigarette in town. Those who are here to introduce it say it's going to be the toast of the town —because the cigarette itself is toasted. It's the "Lucky Strike"—the real Burley cigarette.

Beginning today J. B. Withers, general southern representative of the cigarette department of the American Tobacco company, accompanied by George A. Moltz, one of the special southern men for the company, start out with a crew of fifteen expert salesmen and demonstrators to tell the merchants and the consumers of this city all about this new discovery in the making of a cigarette. Atlanta has been selected as the first southern city in which to open what is going to be a big publicity campaign on this new smoke.

The crew will be here for a week or ten days. They are among the best salesmen in the list of the American Tobacco company's force, and when they get through, it is not only possible —but very probable—that every cigarette smoker in this section will at least have become acquainted with "Lucky Strike."

The cigarette will be put on sale here immediately, various leading jobbers handling them, among them being the Capital City Tobacco company, who have now a goodly supply on hand.

The American Tobacco company in presenting this new cigarette believes there is a parallel between the appetizing thought of hot butter toast and the fact that the tobacco for "Lucky Strike" cigarettes is toasted, and that this fact cannot fail to attract buyers to a new cigarette.

The increasing demand for Burley smoking tobacco has been under close observation by the American Tobacco company for a number of years. Naturally wanting to take advantage of such a promising market, they have been constantly experimenting for five years to develop a satisfactory Burley cigarette.

The obstacle to such a result was the fact that Burley tobacco, when shredded for ready-made cigarettes, lost its flavor. Therefore, it was the problem of handling Burley tobacco so that it could be used in a cigarette that would remain in good condition. This has now been accomplished by the application of a new principle in cigarette making. Under this new principle the Burley tobacco is toasted. This accomplished the one necessary thing—it held the Burley flavor in cigarette form. The result is "Lucky Strike," the real Burley cigarette. It is based on the original "Lucky Strike" formula. This new principle (in other words, the toasting) can for advertising purposes be compared to the toasting of bread—"like toast, buttered hot."

Coffee County Liquor, After Much Litigation, Will Be Destroyed Soon

Macon, Ga., March 19.—(Special.)—The 6,000 pints of whisky seized by the sheriff of Coffee county and later confiscated by the United States district court will be destroyed.

Recently Judge Emory Speer ruled that the whisky had been illegally shipped and should be turned over to the United States treasury department to be either shipped from the state and sold or poured into the sewer. Secretary McAdoo has notified Deputy Internal Revenue Collector Walter Tripp, of Atlanta, to come here to destroy the liquor. The manner of destruction and the time and place have not yet been determined, but it is believed the liquor will be taken to the crematory and thrown into the furnace.

The liquor is valued at $8,500 and has been the center of interest in Georgia court circles for several months. At the time the liquor was seized there were two carloads of it and the owners claimed it to be worth $39,000. When the whisky came into the possession of the United States court it was found that there was not nearly so much as there was originally, the owners claiming that a large amount had been stolen.

New York, March 19.—Increasing anxiety over the new crop outlook seemed responsible for an active buying movement in the cotton market today and demand became more urgent following rumors of a revolution in Germany. Late months led the advance with October selling up to 17.95, or 83 points net higher, while May touched 18.52, or 67 points above the close of Saturday. Last prices showed reactions of 2 or 3 points from the best, but were very steady at a net gain of 62 to 82 points.

The market opened steady at an increase of 9 to 15 points in response to relatively firm cables and on the settlement of the railroad troubles. People who had bought toward the end of last week in anticipation that the strike would be averted took profits around the initial figures, while the influence of the cables was modified to some extent by reports that Liverpool had been affected by higher freight and marine war risks. Prices eased off during the first few minutes in consequence, working back to about Saturday's closing figures with May selling at 17.85 and October at 17.15.

Liverpool was a good buyer on this decline and the market soon turned firmer on numerous complaints of delayed farm work and trade buying of both old and new crop months. Demand became more active as prices worked higher and it was reported around the ring that some of the spot house buying of October was for mill account. Stop orders were uncovered and the market was excited late in the afternoon with active months selling 67 to 83 points net higher just before the close.

Private cables from Liverpool reported a more optimistic view of political conditions and while there appeared to be no definite basis for the rumors of a revolution in Germany, the talk of this sort evidently made a considerable impression on sentiment during the last hour. The sinking of three American vessels may have contributed to the early nervousness, but was not much commented upon as a market factor, and the attention of the trade seemed to be divided between the bullish view of the new crop start and the hope of a better peace outlook in Europe.

Spot cotton steady; middling, 18.45.

New Orleans Gains 68-82 Points.

New Orleans, March 19.—Today's session of the cotton market was featured by strong bullish sentiment. Prices firmed up rapidly from the start and the close was strong at a net rise of 68 to 82 points. At the highest levels the strongest months were something over $4 a bale up and the May option was sent up to 18.07, the first time since the middle of January that 18 cents has appeared on the boards.

The settlement of the railroad labor troubles in this country and the rumor of a revolution in Berlin were the main influences of the day. Supplementing their effect were the gains by the entente allies, a revival in the spot demand and unsatisfactory reports from the interior regarding the start of the new crop. Bearish influences had almost no effect and at no time did the sinking of American ships by German war vessels have any appreciable influence on prices.

Around the opening the market was about 10 points up. This small rise was quickly followed by a reaction to a level 6 points under to four points over Saturday's close. This was the only period of the day when a net decline appeared on the boards. Buying developed on the soft spot and increased as the day grew older, the highest levels being reached toward the close, following the marking up of spot quotations by 31 points to 17.94 for middling, and the rumors about trouble in Berlin.

At their best the trading months showed a net gain of 71 to 84 points.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

New York, March 19.—(Special.)—The market ruled strong all day, based on a demand for the new crop positions on the theory that the retreat of the Germans in France indicated a cessation of hostilities within the next six months. Therefore, while there was doubtless enough and to spare in the supply from this crop, as we said on Saturday, the opportunity for an advance was in the vicissitudes of the weather. In the afternoon there was a rumor that a political upheaval in Germany, approaching a revolution, had occurred. This report came from the stock exchange and could not be confirmed.

The falling off in the exports and the submarine warfare, together with the serious position of this country in its unprepared state for war, were disregarded.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New York, March 19.—(Special.—Although the tenseness of our relations with Germany has been further aggravated; the local market displayed a firm tone today and under the leadership of trade buying, pricess advanced. The practical settlement of the railroad trouble and the dry weather over parts of Texas were factors which helped the advance, but while these and other matters are talked of from day to day as market influences, the main governing force is the fact that the available supply of cotton is not equal to the world's requirements and until this condition is equalized we expect high prices to rule.

BOND, McENANY & CO.

New York, March 19.—(Special.)—Today new crop contracts advanced about fifteen points more than the old. The weather conditions continue unfavorable for planting, especially in the southwest, where rain is needed. Liverpool bought old crop contracts to liquidate at the widest (about 545 points) intermarket difference of the season. The news affecting the new crop has caused some increase in the volume of speculative trade. While the price continues to advance, there remains much confusion of udgment as to the cause, considering international political conditions.

J. W. JAY & CO.

New Orleans, March 19.—(Special.)—With the bullish constructions placed upon domestic and foreign news items in connection with war departments and with new crop progress seriously hampered by weather, we would not be surprised to see a somewhat higher market, but with the uncertainty of the political situation always ahead of us we can only continue to express lack of confidence which the trade reflects in following an advance.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, March 19.—The market for cotton oil was higher on short covering and new buying on the pronounced strength in lard and other commodities. May sold from 13.71 to 13.83 and closed at 13.80 to 13.82. Final net gains were 12 to 19 points. Tenders, 1,200 barrels. Total sales, 28,100 barrels.

Coffee.

New York, March 19.—The market for coffee futures was firmer today on renewed buying of the later deliveries believed to be based on the hope of peace before the end of the year, and covering of the near positions. The market opened at an advance of 6 to 9 points with May selling up to 7.80 and September to 8.10 during the afternoon, or new high ground for the movement. Rumors of a revolution in Germany probably contributed to the late advance and the market closed at the best point of the day, or 17 to 19 points net higher. Sales were estimated at 62,250.

Sugar.

New York, March 19.—The settlement of the railroad strike created a much more optimistic feeling in the sugar trade generally, and with the exception of refined sugar, prices were higher all around. In raws there were sales of 15,000 bags of Cubas for March shipment at 4⅝c cost and freight, equal to 5.39 for centrifugal, and at the close there was a further buying interest at this level, but offerings were light with holders asking fractional gains. The close was firm at 4⅝c for Cubas cost and freight, equal to 5:39 for centrifugal, and 4.52 for molasses.

The market for refined sugar was unchanged with refiners' selling prices ranging from 7c to 7.50 for fine granulated. There was a fair inquiry reported and conditions were said to be pretty nearly normal and refiners only sligihtly behind in deliveries.

The firmness in raws and the settlement of the railroad strike led to a little general buying in the market for sugar futures with final prices 9 to 14 points net higher, or at about best point of the day. Salies were 8,250 tons. Shorts were the principal buyers, although there seemed to be some inquiry from outside sources as well.

BULLS TAKE LEAD IN FINANCE MARKET

Rail Difference Adjustment and Supreme Court Decision on the Adamson Law Provoke Bullish Outburst. Rails Dominate Final Hour

New York, March 19.—Adjustment of the railway labor problem and the decision of the supreme court upholding the legality of the Adamson act provoked an outburst of bullish enthusiasm and short covering in today's market, the movement extending to all parts of the list. In the main, rails derived the greatest benefit, rising spiritedly on the news from Washington.

Irregular tendencies at the outset denoted a degree of uneasiness arising from latest developments affecting this country's relations with Germany, shippings and a few industrials falling under last week's final prices. Railies occurred almost immediately on heavy buying of United States Steel, Bethlehem Steels, Central Leather and other speculative issues.

Rails were barely more than firm until the final hour, when they dominated the market. Canadian Pacific made an extreme gain of 5¾ to 159½, with 1½ to 3½ points for other Pacifics, Reading, Lehigh Valley, Norfolk and Western, Erie, Chesapeake and Ohio, New York Central, New Haven, Southern Railway preferred and common, and Seaboard Air Line.

Apart from Bethlehem Steel, in which the new stock made a gain of 7¾ at 129½, with 6 for the old at 138, advances of 2 to 5 points were recorded by Crucible Steel, Gulf States Steel, Lackawanna Steel and Republic Iron.

United States Steel showed a gross gain of 2½ at 115¼, but forfeited much of this advantage before the close, with other industrials.

Equipments were to the fore at advances of 2 to 4 points for American and Baldwin Locomotives, New York Airbrake and American and Continental Cans. Coppers, motors, oils, Industrial Alcohol and Distillers' Securities were in demand with Philadelphia Company, Ohio Gas, Western Union and half a score of unclassified stocks.

Total sales amounted to 1,310,000 shares, the largest turnover in weeks.

Changes in the market for European remittances were mainly in the direction of betterment, especially for francs and lires.

The bond market kept partial pace with stocks, speculative issues showing sharp gains. Total sales, par value, aggregated $2,785,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

WHEAT TAKES FLYER ON AVERTED STRIKE

Decided Advances Scored in Pit Following Settlement of Rail Troubles — Corn, Oats and Provisions Make Gains.

Chicago, March 19.—Decided advances today in the value of wheat followed the railway strike settlement and the supreme court decision that the Adamson 8-hour law was constitutional. Prices closed 2½c to 4⅛c net higher, with May at $1.88 to $1.88⅛, and July at $1.58⅛ to $1.58½. Corn gained 1⅛c to 3c, oats ¾c to ⅞c and provisions 27 to $1.15.

At first the wheat market made only moderate upturns in response to announcements that the threatened walkout of railroad employees had been declared off. Temporarily bullish sentiment was restrained by the expected continuance of such freight embargoes as had been due to congested facilities. Besides, demand from would-be purchasers was checked by uncertainty over the increasing destruction of American shipping in the war zone.

Bearish crop reports from the southwest, as well as a revival of rumors of efforts for a separate peace between Austria and Russia acted further as transient weight on the market. After the trade had taken its bearings on the Adamson law decision, however, the buying movement broadened out and quotations went up with a rush.

One of the factors which in the last hour lifted the wheat market to the highest level of the day, was an unconfirmed rumor of serious disturbances in Germany. A substantial decrease in the United States visible supply total counted likewise in favor of higher prices, and so, too, did the cancellation of railroad embargoes. There was, in addition, gossip of energetic measures to be taken to give greater protection to American ships.

Corn advanced to new high-price records. Seaboard buying and active demand from industries were strongly in evidence, and were ascribed largely to the strike settlement.

Oats rose with other grain. Southern call for cash oats was keen and premiums were offered for immediate shipment.

Sharp gains in provisions accompanied the improvement in the rail situation. Scarcity of hog arrivals formed another stimulus to buyers. May delivery of pork, lard and ribs went to the topmost prices.

Chicago Quotations.

Speaking of Hits, Leave It to Frank; He Knows Game

Cracker Manager Has Hit Home Run With Free Ladies' Day Every Friday That Team Is Home.

Leave it to C. Frank to make a hit with the ladies and to forge ahead of his Southern league associates in the way of innovations and efficiency moves. The Cracker magnate announced Monday afternoon that Friday is to be Ladies' day with the Crackers when they are at home, and upon that day every feminine resident of Atlanta is to be admitted to the baseball park absolutely free of charge, whether she be escorted or not.

How's that for efficiency? Twenty-two players, members of the Atlanta ball club, unanimously indorsed the move on the part of their manager Monday, and with one accord willed him the canine for being about the most up-to-date proposition in Southern league circles.

"Yes, I have about decided that a Ladies' day ought to be a sure enough event. There ain't a thing to all of this special Ladies' day ticket business, and so the Crackers this season are going to play before fair audiences on Fridays, absolutely free of charge.

"That means that any lady or girl can get into Ponce de Leon park on Fridays when the team is at home, absolutely free. There won't be a nickel charged them, whether they are with anybody or not, and the first son of a gun I catch even thinking about charging one of them to see a game on Friday, off the lot he goes. Believe me, Friday is going to be Ladies' day.

"What do you think of that stunt, kid? Seems to me like it's a pretty good one. Well, I thought about the Ladies' day proposition a whole lot, and just came to the conclusion that the best way to line the ladies up with us was to do something for them. Every club has its Ladies' day, and on that day they can get cheap tickets or something like that, but there ain't a single one of them hit on the scheme of letting the dames in free.

"That struck me as being a pretty good move, and so in she goes. You just tell 'em that we want every woman in Atlanta who likes baseball and who likes to go to games, to be our guests every single Friday that the Crackers play at home. Of course, that don't go if a holiday comes on Friday.

"I believe the players can do better work if we can get the feminine population pulling for them, and if there's anything to this reciprocation stuff, they will pull for us when we are pulling for them."

Each and every one of the players upon hearing of Manager Frank's move Monday gave his indorsement to the scheme. You have to do something unusual to get a ballplayer enthused, but they were sure enough enthused when they heard of the manager's latest move.

Atlanta can now look forward to the best games of the season on Friday, and a retinue of fannesses which ought to make any club win the pennant.

It was a pitchers' battle between Pitts, for Locust Grove, and Schell for the visitors. Pitts tied the game in the ninth inning with a two-base hit, scoring Rackley. Anderson and Rackley did most of the hitting for the locals, getting four out of five and three out of four, respectively. Shearer and Pounds also played good ball for the institute.

Stephenson, Goldsmith and Steerman played best for the visitors. Struck out, by Pitts 20; by Schell 12; bases on balls, off Pitts 3, off Schell 1; three-base hit, Anderson 1; two-base hits, Pitts 1, Goldsmith 1.

DOINGS AT THE "Y"

Tonight at 6:30 o'clock there will be a meeting of a committee on arrangements at the Y. M. C. A., to formulate final plans for the big physical educational demonstration on May 4. At this meeting will be the Y. M. C. A. committee, consisting of the physical directors, together with Dr. C. E. Dowman, J. K. Orr, J. R. Walraven, S. F. Boykin, J. B. Campbell, W. J. O'Callaghan and S. C. Dobbs. Others present will be: Major R. C. Guinn and J. C. Wardlaw, from the city schools; H. F. Comer and T. R. Weems, of Tech school; Professors W. A. Sutton and C. S. Culver, of Tech High; A. A. Jameson and Bryon Gibson, of the Boy Scouts; Colonel J. C. Woodward, of G. M. A.; Miss Sarah Converse and Miss Kitisue Moore, of the Y. W. C. A.; Dr. F. H. Gaines and Mrs. Harvey Parry, of Agnes Scott, and Miss Willet Allen, of the kindergarden schools.

Each institution will later organize subcommittees to work up their particular program, and Atlanta may plan on witnessing May 4 one of the greatest educational demonstrations ever seen in the south.

Although no set program has been arranged at this time it is certain that from advanced reports over 1,200 participants will be lined up in the demonstration, the entire arena being used. The six men's classes of the Y. M. C. A. will give a splendid massed wand drill. A horse drill by members of the senior business men's class, including many of Atlanta's prominent business men, will be a feature of the "Y" program. All the boys' classes will combine on a dumb bell drill, about 250 taking part in this one drill.

The Y. W. C. A. gymnasium classes will give types of their work, both for the younger girls and for the ladies. A mammoth drill will be staged by Tech college students. The Agnes Scott college girls will enter the demonstration and will give drills and dances illustrating the work done in that institution.

The Georgia Military academy will give a military drill. The Boys' High and Tech High schools will have special work, and the grammar grade schools will be represented with a type of their work. About 250 kindergarden pupils, tots three and four years of age, will give an exhibition of folk dancing and games. The Boy Scouts will give several of their physical tests and exhibitions. A picked group of men representing the Y. M. C. A. and the Tech school, will give an exhibition of apparatus work on the high horizontal bars, and a fancy exhibition of spring board leaping.

General admission to the demonstration will be 25 cents, while reserved seats may be obtained for 50 cents. It is fully expected that 4,000 people will witness this mammoth demonstration of the physical work being done in the city of Atlanta.

PADDOCK WILL SIGN

Former St. Paul Outfielder Will Report to Lookouts.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 19.—(Special.)—Word from Orange was received today that Dave Paddock, former St. Paul American association outfielder, had agreed to terms with the Lookouts and would report at once. Elberfeld also announced that Outfielder Frank Harper had been secured from Detroit. Harper was carried by the Tigers all last year.

Infielder Montague has been released to the Houston club of the Texas league, and Outfielder Allison has been returned to Detroit.

SPORT SHOTS

BY LESLIE RAWLINGS

New Orleans Attendance.

NEW ORLEANS fans have already started their annual "Kop-Kup" campaign for the purpose of winning the 1917 attendance cup. Atlanta fans, however, are not worrying, as every indication points to the fact that the gods of baseball and crowds are going to come to this city's aid in the race.

That Number "Thirteen."

MEMPHIS has almost a banner squad out, according to reports from the home of the Chickasaws. Thirteen pitchers, two catchers, six infielders and six outfielders are now in training in the Memphis camp. The only redeeming feature is that the thirteen pitchers will surely prove a hoodoo.

Little Rock's Chances.

THE TRAVELERS are said to be developing a strong team in their Little Rock bailiwick. Even though two of the most prominent Travelers are hold-outs, it is to be seen by the roster of those in camp that the club will be better than expected when the time comes for playing.

Gulls Sart Training.

THE GULLS reported at Mobile Monday, and started spring practice with a rush. From early night reports from Mobile, it is to be seen that the Gulls are going to get down to business and try and get in the running for the pennant, although someone has said that the Alabama city doesn't hope to win. Who said it?

John Overton's Records.

JOHN OVERTON, the Nashville boy who recently sprang into prominence by breaking several records in the A. A. U. championship meet, is going to hang trophies on Old Eli's walls that it will take some time to outshine, if he keeps going at the pace he has started.

Feel Relieved Now.

GEE, but we feel relieved! There is now no danger of clubs having to hurry home on account of a threatened railroad strike, and, what's more, it's a cinch all of the schedules of the different leagues are going to be carried out as planned. Of course, some disgruntled player may bob up and organize a revolution, just to be in style, but that's not likely.

Governor Whitman's Action.

GOVERNOR WHITMAN is evidently bent on giving boxing another chance in New York, as he has removed Fred A. Wenck, chairman of the state athletic commission, from office. Wenck was said to have attempted to extort funds from boxing promoters, but the governor adds that his previous associations make him unfit to hold office.

The Collection Agency.

GEORGE BUTLER, sport writer of The Chattanooga News, is only one of the many in the fraternity who makes the following comment on A. J. Heinemann and his recent action: "Heinemann is making a serious mistake. The public is already sick and disgusted with the publicity which has been given the business and financial side of baseball as regards the players and owners, and yet Heinemann is ready to place the national pastime in the attitude of a collection agency.

May Postpone Opening.

WORD from Chattanooga is that the opening of that city's baseball season may be postponed on account of the condition in which the recent flood has left Andrews field. In spite of the fact that forces of men are now working on the park, very little can be done toward getting it in condition until it has been given an opportunity to thoroughly dry out.

Too Late Now.

IT'S TOO LATE to save the Southern league from militarism. The Nashville Vols are going to wear American flags on their uniforms.

Won't Lose Here.

BOB AND PERRY may be losing at Pinehurst, but it's a cinch they won't be in that class as soon as they hit their home stamping grounds for the big Druid Hills tourney. The two youngsters are going to show true to form when they get home, according to predictions of their friends here.

Dobbs Wants Utility.

MANAGER DOBBS, of the Pelicans, is fairly aching for a utility man to bolster up his team. Dobbs says he just must have one if the Pels finish anywhere near the top of the list in the pennant race.

Tennis Tournament Ends.

Pinehurst, N. C., March 19.—The Pinehurst tennis tournament ended today with the finals in the women's singles and the mixed doubles. Miss Caroline Bogart, of the Elizabethtown and Country club, defeated Miss Elinor Gates, Nassau Country club, in the singles, 6-4, 6-4, and paired with Jack Latting, of Locus Valley, defeated Miss Gates and R. A. Balfe, South Shore club, in the doubles, 6-4, 6-4.

Military Training Gives Way at Marist To Physical Culture

Military training has been abolished at Marist college because the authorities believe that a physical culture course is better for boys between 12 and 18 years of age than military drilling.

Father James A. Horton, principal of the institution, stated that it was not lack of patriotism that promoted this move, but due to the youthfulness of the students it did not produce satisfactory results. Under the new plan each student will receive individual instruction according to the latest scientific methods. Joe Bean, physical director of the Atlanta Athletic club, will have entire charge of the new work.

RECRUITING RECORDS SMASHED LAST WEEK

The past week was the most successful in the history of the local office in recruiting soldiers for Uncle Sam. Captain G. V. Heidt, officer in charge, reported Monday that he sent away 49 men during the latter part of last week and 18 Sunday and Monday, making a total of 67 for the week. Information has been received from the adjutant general in Washington to the effect that, in the event of temporary military forces being called for to meet the war situation with Germany, non-commissioned officers of the recruiting force here will be recommended for commissions, no commission to exceed the rank of captain.

WHITE ELEPHANTS COMING MARCH 31

Crackers Play Commodore Feds Saturday--Robertson, Clancy and Two Thrashers Reported Monday — Cable Not Coming.

The Philadelphia White Elephants are to play the Crackers here in a pre-season series, March 31 and April 2, 3 and 4, according to dispatches from their training camp at Jacksonville Monday afternoon, and also an announcement on the part of Manager Charlie Frank, when asked about the forwarding of the dates of the series Monday.

That will mean that the exhibition game, which was to have been played with the Commodore Feds at the Federal prison Saturday, March 31, will be set up one week and that game will now be staged this coming Saturday if satisfactory arrangements can be made with the prison ball team manager.

Twenty-two players reported to Manager Frank at the ball park Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock and practiced for an hour and a half. The same twenty-two showed up Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock and put in another hour and a half, for the season grind has started and it is three hours a day now until the opening of the season on April 12.

Latest Arrivals.

Wilson, Clancy, Ike and Loring Thrasher and Robertson all came into camp Monday morning, bent on business and were received with open arms by Charlie, although at the present time, he has so many ball players that he is seriously considering sending a few of them to the army to get them out of his way.

Cable is the only player who belongs to the Cracker magnate, not to appear, and advices from the International league circuit are to the effect that he may not show up to play with Atlanta this season, having considered that Connie Mack, of the Athletics, has given him a raw deal in releasing him to the Southern circle.

Eastern sport writers say that Cable considers himself wronged, in that Connie gave him no chance to show his wares and let him skid to Atlanta without asking for waivers from Class A. A. teams. He is said to have reported his case to Secretary John Farrell, of the National association, and requested a ruling on the case.

The Toledo boy has returned his contract unsigned and his transportation cancelled, because the contract in this league called for work at $500 less than he was being paid with Newark.

When asked about the proposition Monday afternoon, Mr. Frank asserted that he didn't care whether Cable showed up or not, as he is not needed by Atlanta, one little bit.

Belongs to Atlanta.

"He belongs to us," said Frank, "but I don't care what he does. If he wants to come down here and play ball, all right. I won't shed a tear if he doesn't come because I've got all the ball players I can use and they are getting in shape to form a good ball club.

"Yes, sir, things are looking better every day and we are down to sure enough work now. I don't ask for a thing, not a thing."

Cable ranked second among the International keystoners last season and was drafted by the Athletics last fall. He was a good fielder and hit .270 consistently all during the year.

Both the Thrasher boys looked exceptionally fit Monday morning and announced that they are eager to get at it and attempt to hold the name of Thrasher in high repute with the Crackers and Southern league fans. Clancy and Robertson also came in for not a little bit of interest on the part of the fans, who lined the sidelines and watched the aggregation as it took the two workouts of the day.

The squad was put through the paces of hitting and running bunts Monday, and will continue on that form of work today. As the men begin to limber up Frank states he will give them some infield work, although he doesn't want to rush things along that line.

"Just when they are getting limbered up," said the manager Monday, "it would be kind of a foolish proposition to let them strain their muscles on fast infield work, and so I have decided to let them stick at this hitting proposition for a few days and then gradually tack on the heavier work."

NO AMERICAN INJURED IN RUSS REVOLUTION

Washington, March 19.—Ambassador Francis at Petrograd cabled the state department tonight that no Americans had been reported injured during the disturbances in the Russian capital which accompanied the successful revolution, and that the embassy and staff were undisturbed.

Other messages received from the ambassador during the day told briefly of the epoch-making events already described in press dispatches.

HAIR COMING OUT?

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it into the scalp. After a few applications the hair stops coming out and you can't find any dandruff.—(adv.)

Says Poisons Cause Headache Dizziness

Coated Tongue and Myriad Ailments in the Spring.

Grandma's Remedy Now Sold in Tablet—Sulpherb Tablets.

Many men, women and children need a Spring Blood Purifier. The blood becomes thick with poisons through the wintermonths. When spring comes serious ailments like typhoid, scarlet fever, coughs, colds, catarrh, neuralgia, rheumatic pains, loss of appetite and a sluggish all-in feeling prevails.

The bowels, the liver and the kidneys need help. The blood needs thinning and purifying if pimples and boils are present. Sulpherb Tablets quickly relieve constipation and kidney inactivity and elimination of poisons takes place and you are made strong and fit for spring and summer. Grandma gave sulphur and cream of tartar in molasses. Now you take them in tablets with laxative purifying herbs—a better medicine, easy and pleasant to take. Druggists sell them in 50c sealed tubes. Every package guaranteed satisfactory or money back. Get Sulpherb Tablets (not sulphur tablets).

EVEN CROSS, SICK CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

If feverish, bilious, constipated, give fruit laxative at once.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomachache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy. Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.—(adv.)

MANIFESTO ISSUED TO RUSSIAN NATION

Revolutionary Government Says Great Work Has Been Accomplished and New Russia Is Born.

London, March 19.—The following manifesto has been issued by the Russian provisional government to the nation, according to Reuter's Petrograd correspondent:

"Citizens: The great work has been accomplished. By a powerful stroke, the Russian people have overthrown the old regime. A new Russia is born after long years of struggle.

"Under pressure of awakened national forces, the act of October 30, 1905, promised Russia constitutional liberties which were never put into execution. The first duma, the mouthpiece of national wishes, was dissolved. The second duma met the same fate, and the government, being powerless to crush the national will, decided by the act of June 16, 1910, to deprive the people of part of the legislative rights promised them.

"During the ensuing ten years the government successively withdrew from the people all the rights they had won. The country was again thrown into the abyss of absolute ruin and administrative arbitrariness. All attempts to make the voice of reason heard were vain, and the great world struggle into which the country was plunged found it face to face with moral decadence and power not united with the people—power indifferent to the country's destinies and steeped in vices and infamy.

Heroic Efforts of Army.

"The heroic efforts of the army, crushed under the cruel weight of internal disorganization, the appeals of the national representatives who were united in view of the national danger, were powerless to lead the emperor and his government into the path of union with the people. Thus, when Russia by the illegal and disastrous acts of her governors, who faced with the greatest disasters the people had to take the power into their own hands.

With unanimous revolutionary spirit, the people, fully realizing the seriousness of the moment and the frim will of the duma, established a provisional government which considers that it is its sacred duty to realize the national desires and lead the country into the bright path of free civil organization. The government believes that the lofty spirit of patriotism that the people have shown in the struggle against the old regime also will animate our gallant soldiers on the battlefields.

"On its side, the government will do its utmost to provide the army with everything necessary to bring the war to a victorious conclusion. The government will faithfully observe all alliances uniting us to other powers and all agreements made in the past. While taking measures indispensable for the defense of the country against a foreign enemy, the government will consider its first duty to grant to the people every facility to express its will and will convoke as soon as possible a constituent assembly on the basis of universal suffrage, at the same time assuring the gallant defenders of the country their share in parliamentary elections. The constituent assembly will issue fundamental laws guaranteeing the country the immutable rights of equality and liberty.

Political Liberty and Equality.

"Conscious of the burden of the political oppression weighing on the country and hindering the free creative forces of the people during years of painful hardships, the provisional government deems it necessary, even before the constituent assembly, to announce to the country its principles, assuring political liberty and equality to all citizens making free use of their spiritual forces in creative work for the benefit of the country. The government also will take care to elaborate the principles assuring all citizens participation in communal elections, which will be carried out on a basis of universal suffrage.

"At the moment of national emancipation the whole country recalls with pious gratitude those who, in the struggle for their political and religious ideas victims of the vengeance of the old power and the provisional government will joyfully bring back from exile and prison all those who thus suffered for the good of their country.

"In realizing these problems, the provisional government believes it is executing the national will, and that the whole people will support it in its efforts to insure the happiness of Russia."

WAR WILL NOT AFFECT ATLANTA OPERA SEASON

War with Germany will in no way affect the annual engagement of the Metropolitan Opera company in Atlanta for the week of next April 23-28.

Times are much more prosperous in the south now and will continue to be even in event of war, than they were in the spring of 1915, following the disastrous demoralization of the cotton market following the outbreak of the European war in 1914, and Atlanta had no trouble at that time in financing the annual opera week.

This is the last week of the sale of season tickets for opera, which sale has been in progress at the Cable Piano company, 82 and 84 North Broad street for the last two weeks.

Opera patrons are urged to make the applications for tickets early in the week if they expect to get anything like the most choice locations.

There are at the ticket booth a number of tickets which have not been paid for and taken up. The management of the ticket sale announces that unless these tickets are taken up by Thursday night they will be placed back on sale.

Illustrating Audit Service

Following the recent audit of a well-known Georgia bank, attention was called to the fact that clerks and officials were often working far into the night.

Asked to remedy this condition, the auditor revised the system, assigned specific duties to each official and employee, and without the employment even of an additional office boy so revolutionized its detailed work that this institution now finally closes its doors at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

BELGIAN RELIEF SHIP SHELLED BY GERMANS

Seven Men Are Killed—Ship Had German Safe Conduct.

London, March 19.—A boat containing the first, second and third mates and five seamen of the Dutch steamer Selien (Selene?), chartered by the Belgian relief commission, has been shelled by a submarine and all the occupants killed, according to a Reuter dispatch from Stavenger.

"The Dutch steamer Selien," says the dispatch, "has reached here (Stavanger, Norway) bound for New York in ballast. She left Rotterdam Friday, bearing the usual designations of the Belgian relief committee, and was attacked at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon by a German submarine.

"The Selien did not stop, but after some shots, lowered a life boat in which the first, second and third mates and five seamen embarked. The boats was then struck by a shell and all eight were killed.

"The Selien put on full speed ahead and the submarine disappeared."

No Dutch steamer Selien is listed in available shipping registers. There is a Dutch motor tank Selene of 3,738 tons gross, which was last reported sailing from Philadelphia January 21, bound for Gothenburg, Sweden.

Amsterdam, March 20.—(Via London.) A Rotterdam dispatch to The Handelsblad says:

"Two of the five relief ships which, with letters of safe conduct from the German legation, were en route northward were shelled by a German submarine in the so-called "safe-passage." Seven men were killed aboard the Tunisie, which entered Stavanger. The other vessels continued on their voyage."

Two steamers named Tunisie are listed, one of them a Belgian of 2,467 tons, which was last reported, sailed from New York January 8 and arrived at Rotterdam January 28. The other is a French steamer.

Investors Are Turning to Real Estate

Many people who a while bought bonds are now turning to real estate, for which we are grateful.

Strange to say, when these buyers come in our office and sit at a desk with pencil in hand they begin to figure 8 and 10 per cent net.

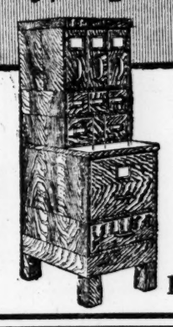

In a bond dealer's office they would be figuring 4½ per cent. But we manage to find something which fills the bill—sound value and sure income paid in monthly rent checks to meet grocery bills with.
